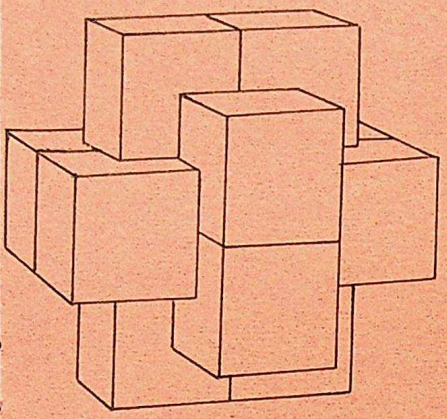
ADVISOR

Mr. Gregg Johnson



In terms of years McNally is a young school, and the established pattern and traditions of other older schools have not yet taken definite shapes and rigid expectations . . .

The students and staff are free to experiment and explore, to probe and pursue . . . to develop for themselves and the school a sense of pragmatism.

Things don't come easy: McNally has had to persevere at building a championship spirit in athletics, at forging ahead in the visual and performing arts, at excelling in academic honors city-wide, at leading the system in curricular and extra-curricular activities. In many cases she has been successful and has taken her place as a school demanding recognition and respect.

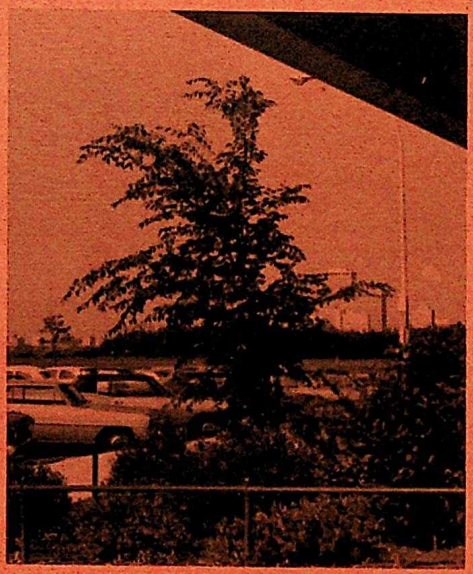
Amidst the struggle for identity and recognition by this institution, there has appeared the beginnings of a trend or tradition — the pursuit of excellence.

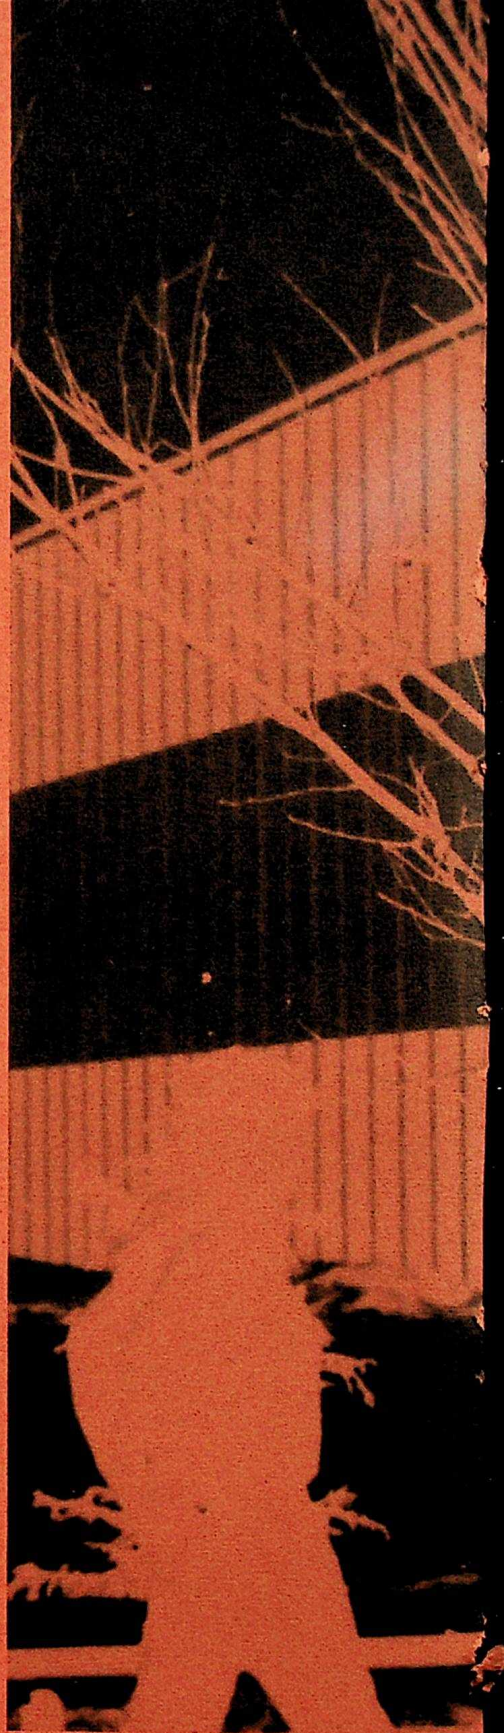
Not popular in a time when people are often encouraged to do their own thing, excellence, nevertheless, remains as one of the great challenges facing young people today.

It is the intention of this publication to continue in and to encourage others to strive for excellence in all things — "nihil sed optimum."

The pursuit of excellence does not always involve blood, sweat, toil and tears . . . it often involves the search for friendship and social meaning or the appreciation of design in both the natural and the man-ordered environment.

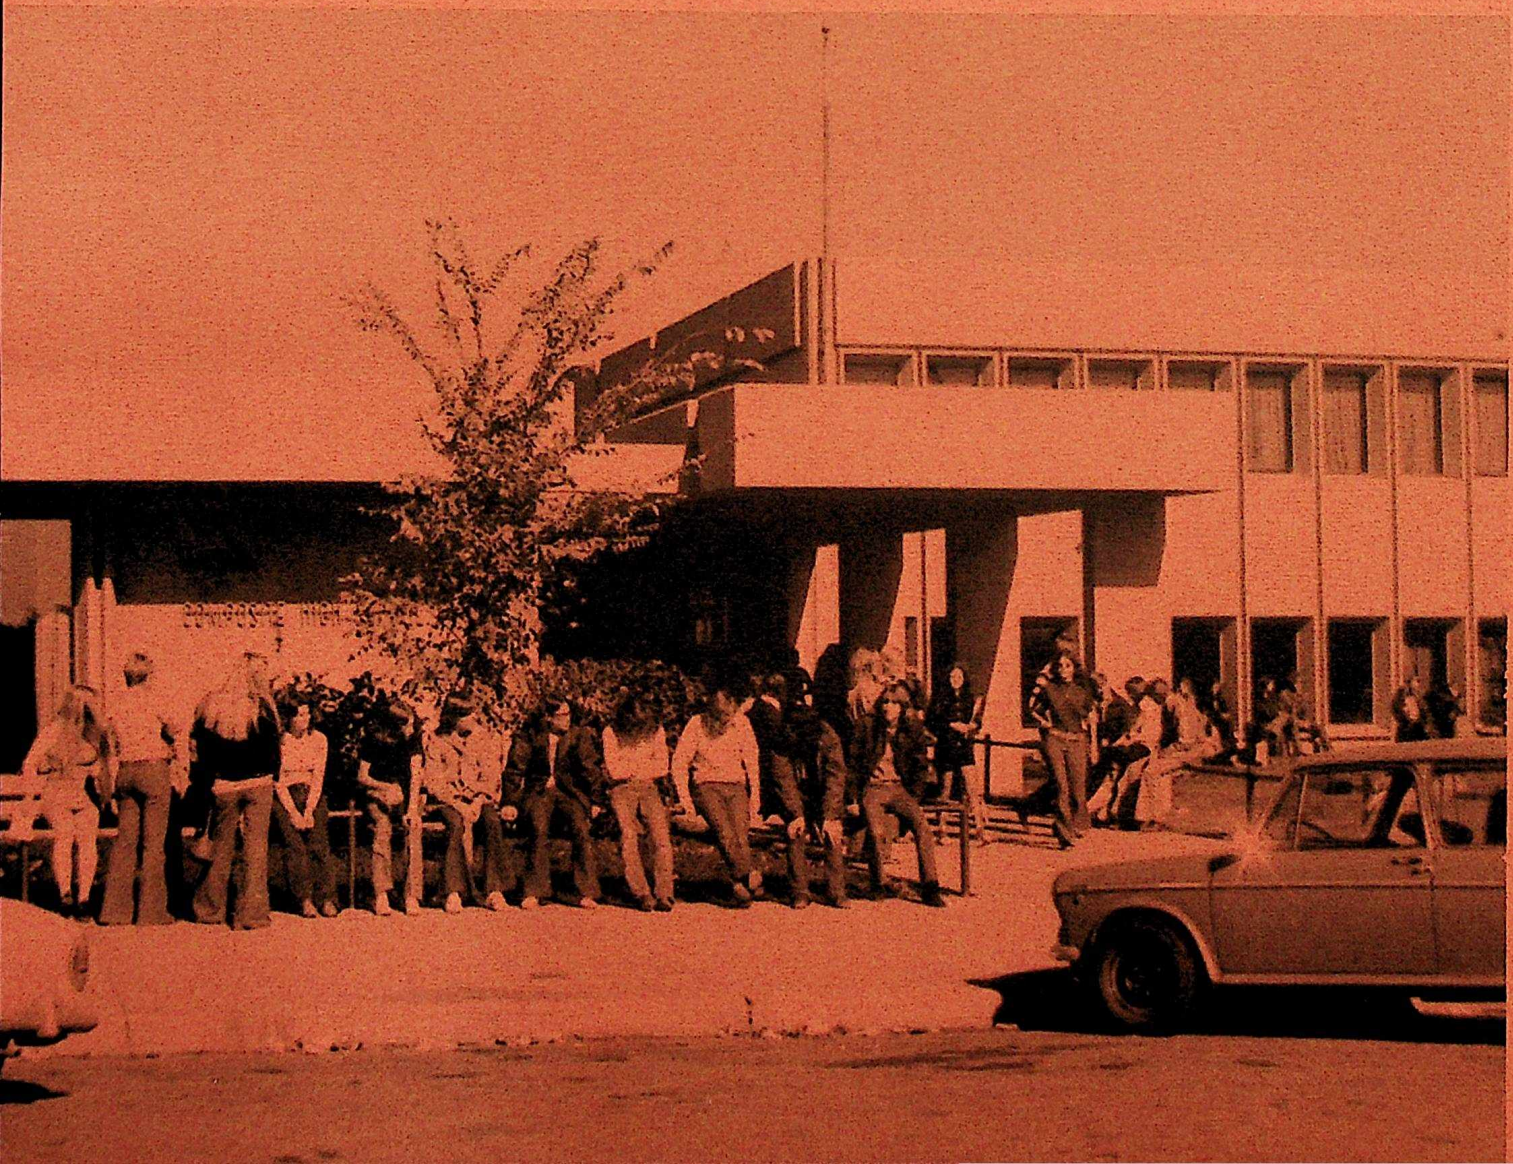
In terms of the physical setting, the educational enterprise could not have a finer location — the architecture, surrounding grounds and the river valley combine to create an atmosphere of inducement and learning.

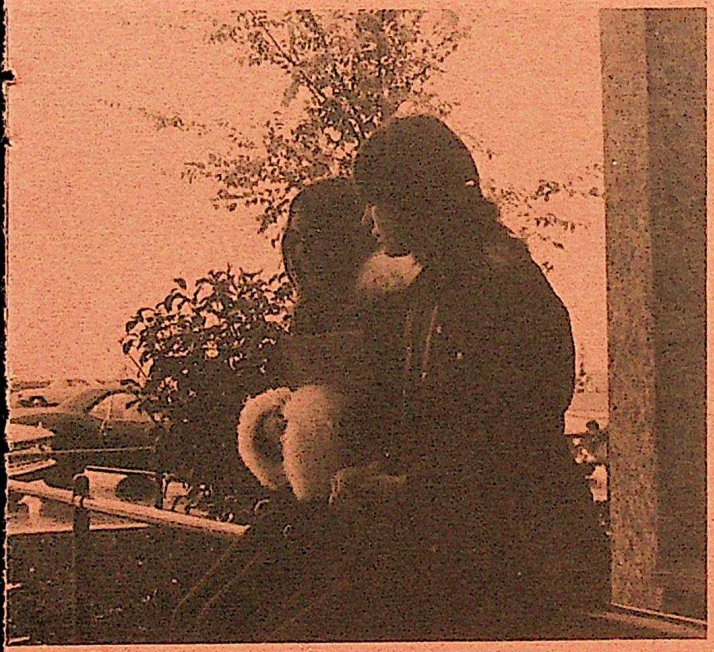


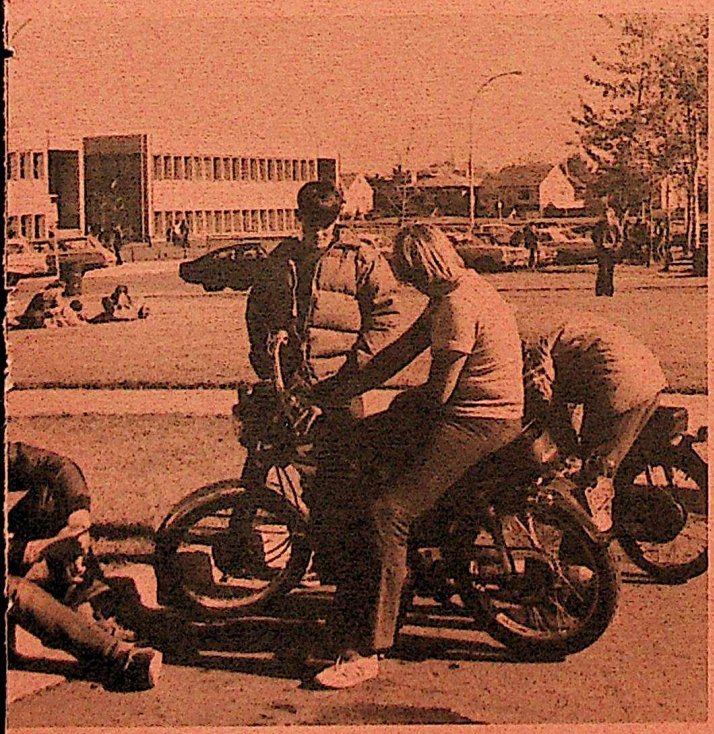


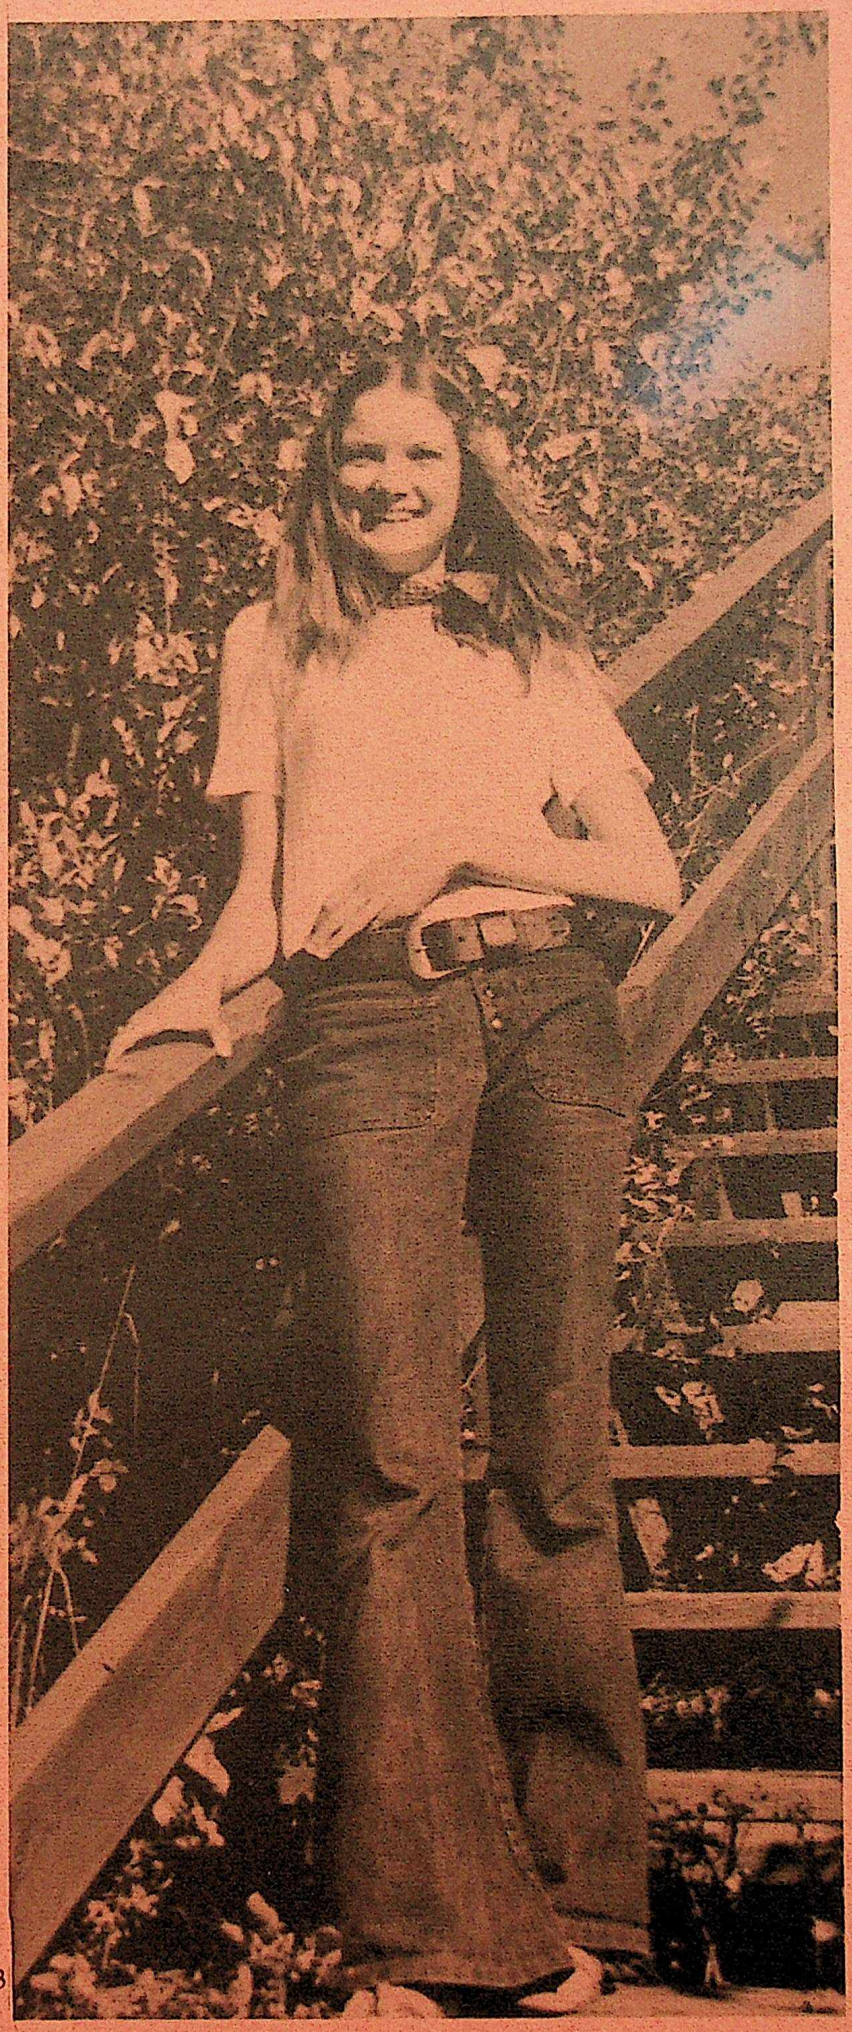
A painting, a book, a research project — the media is different, but the pursuit is the same.

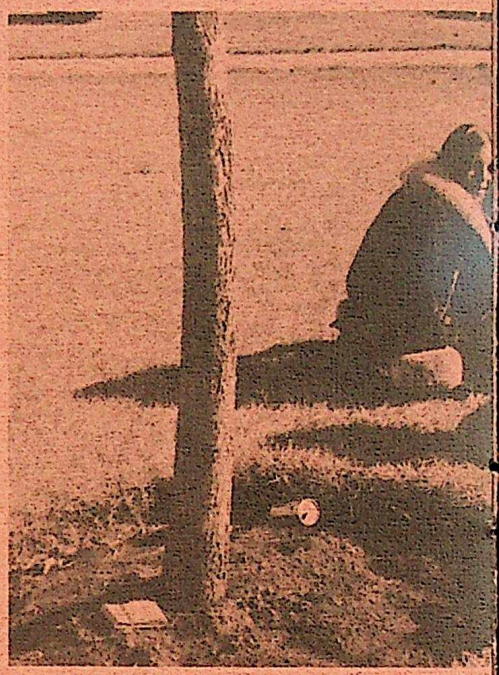
The busy schedule and scholastic demands do not preclude time for soaking up sunshine — liquid or — genuine. However, the moments of relaxation are often followed by . . .

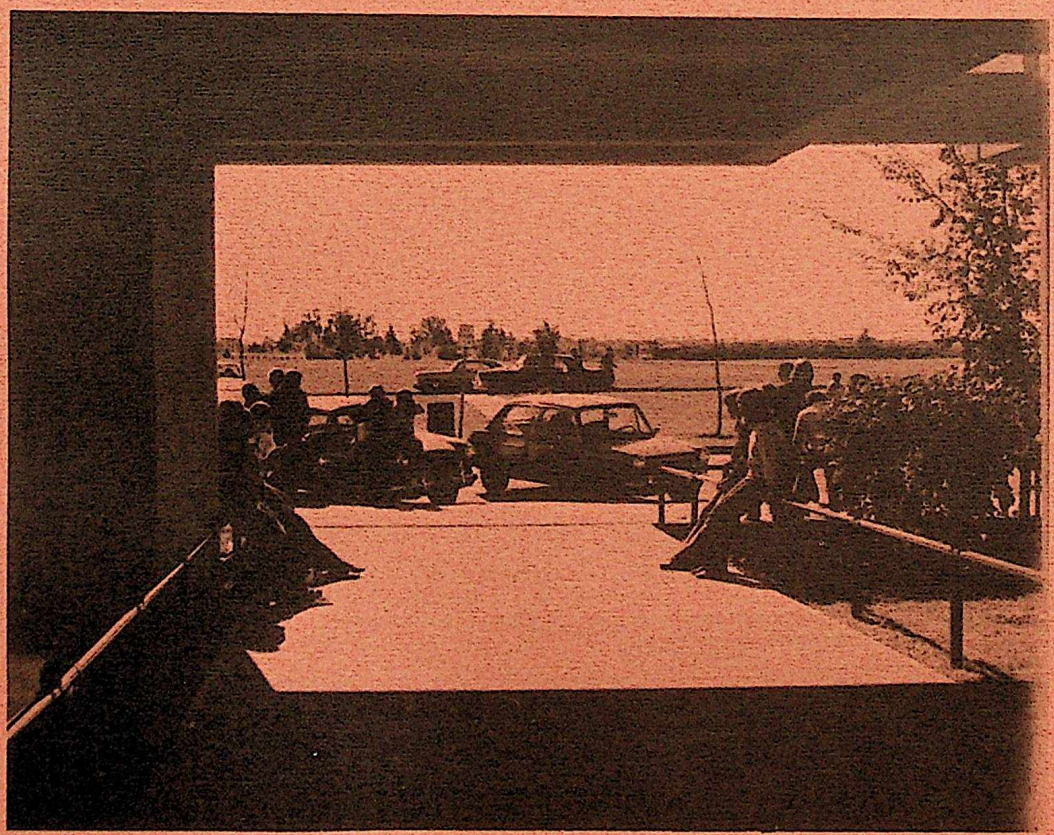


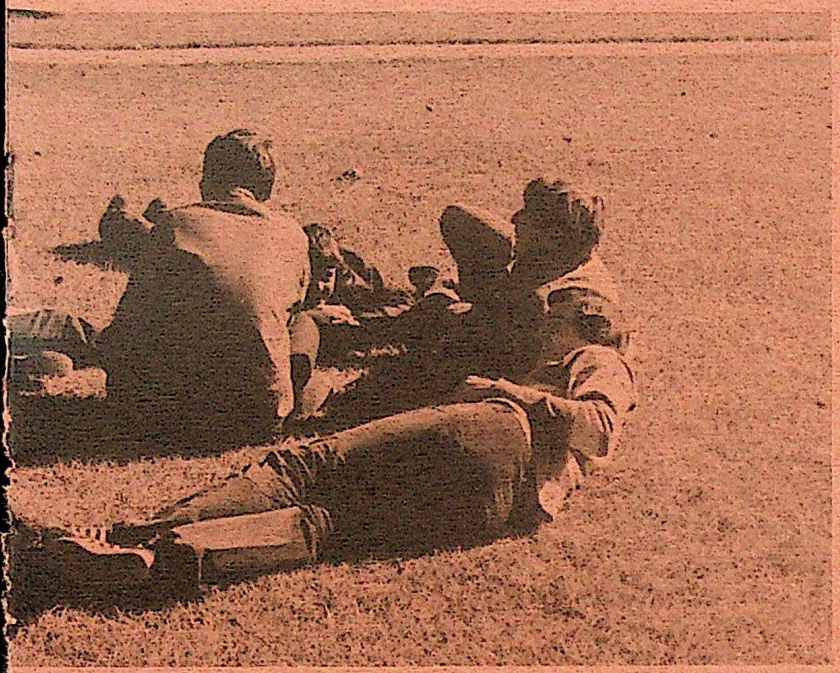




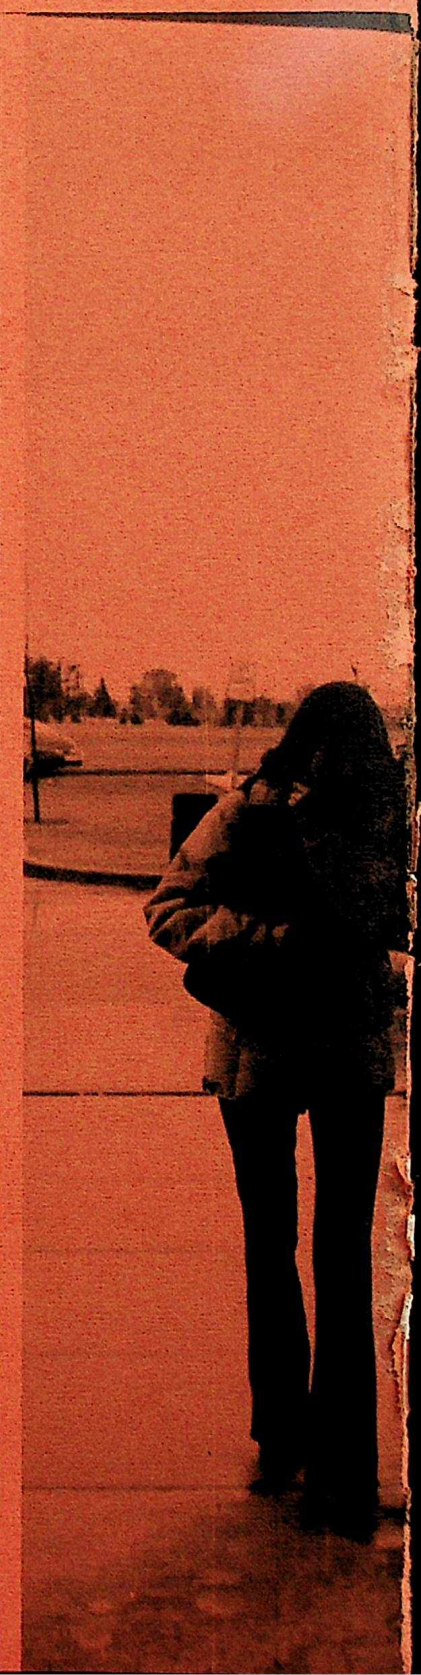






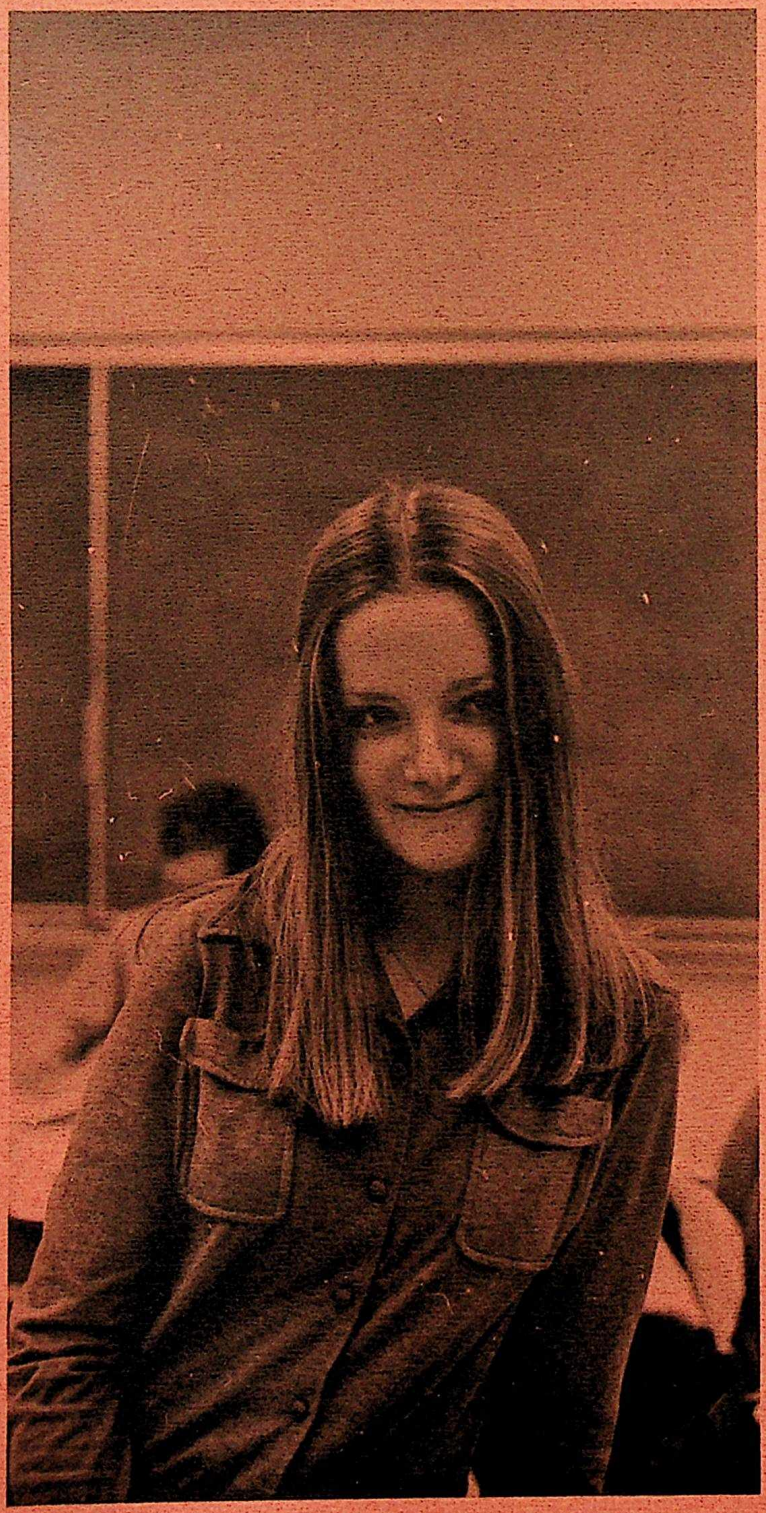


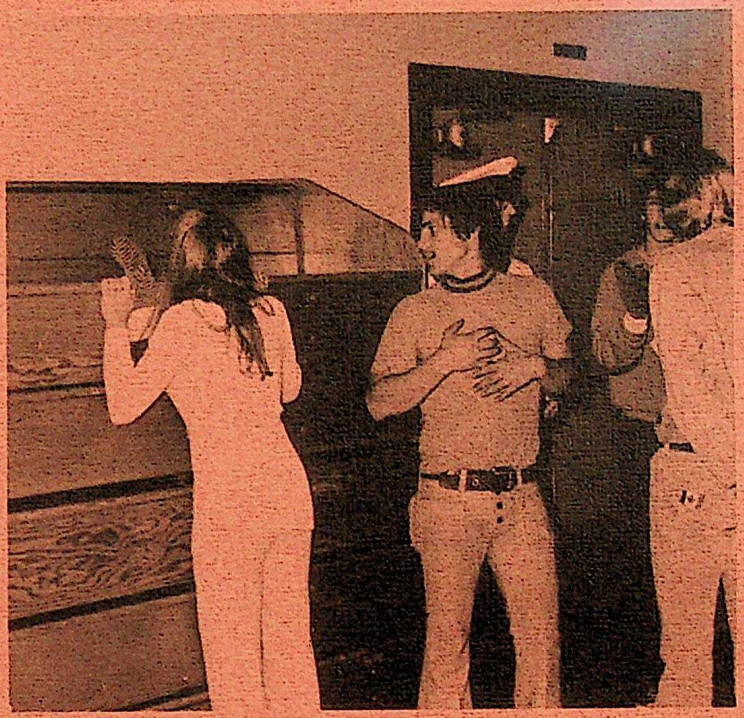
More relaxation . . .

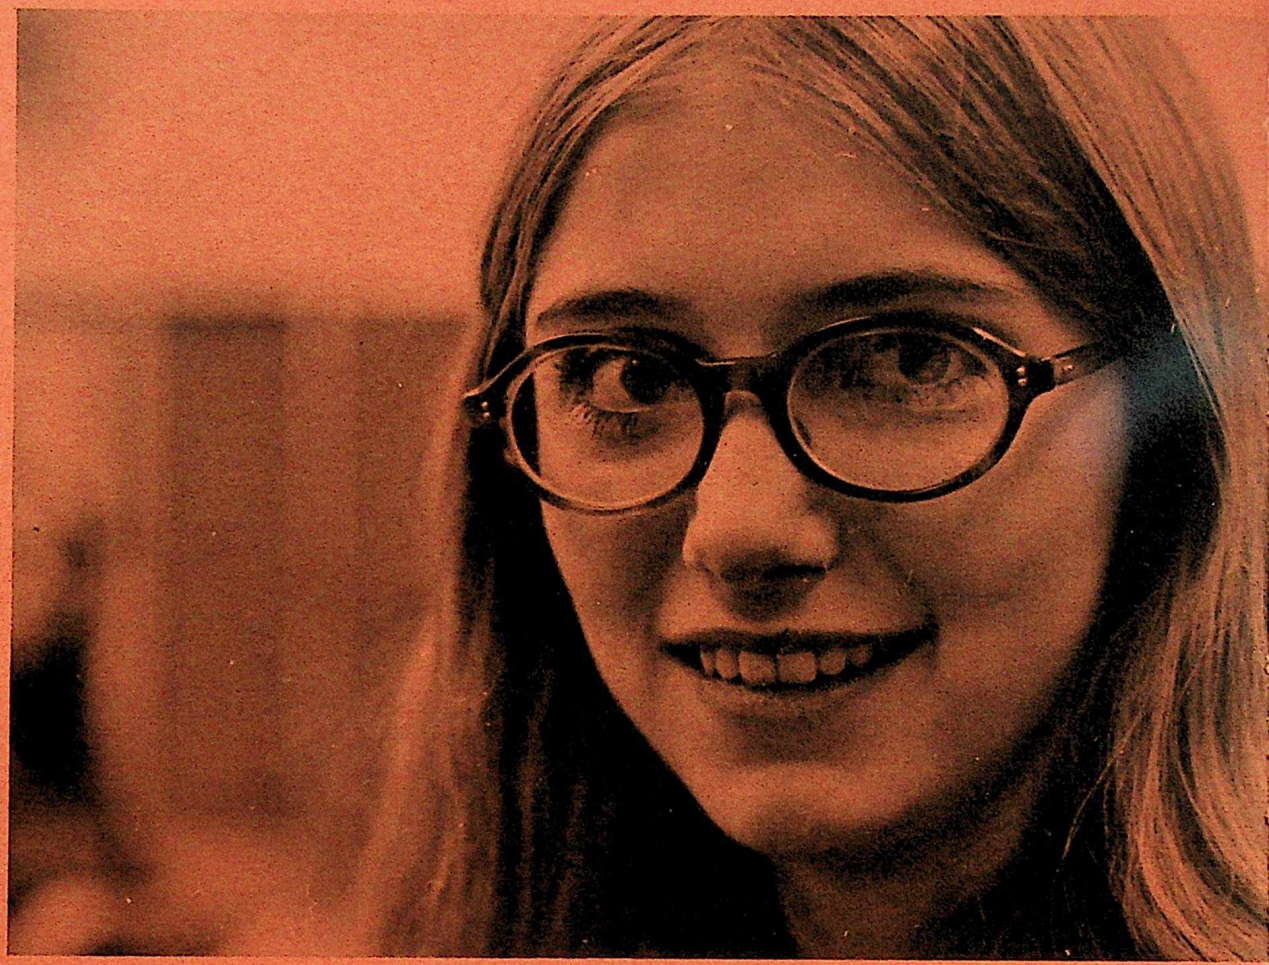


One of the main activities around here is coming . . . which is probably only exceeded in popularity by going which in turn is only exceeded by . . .

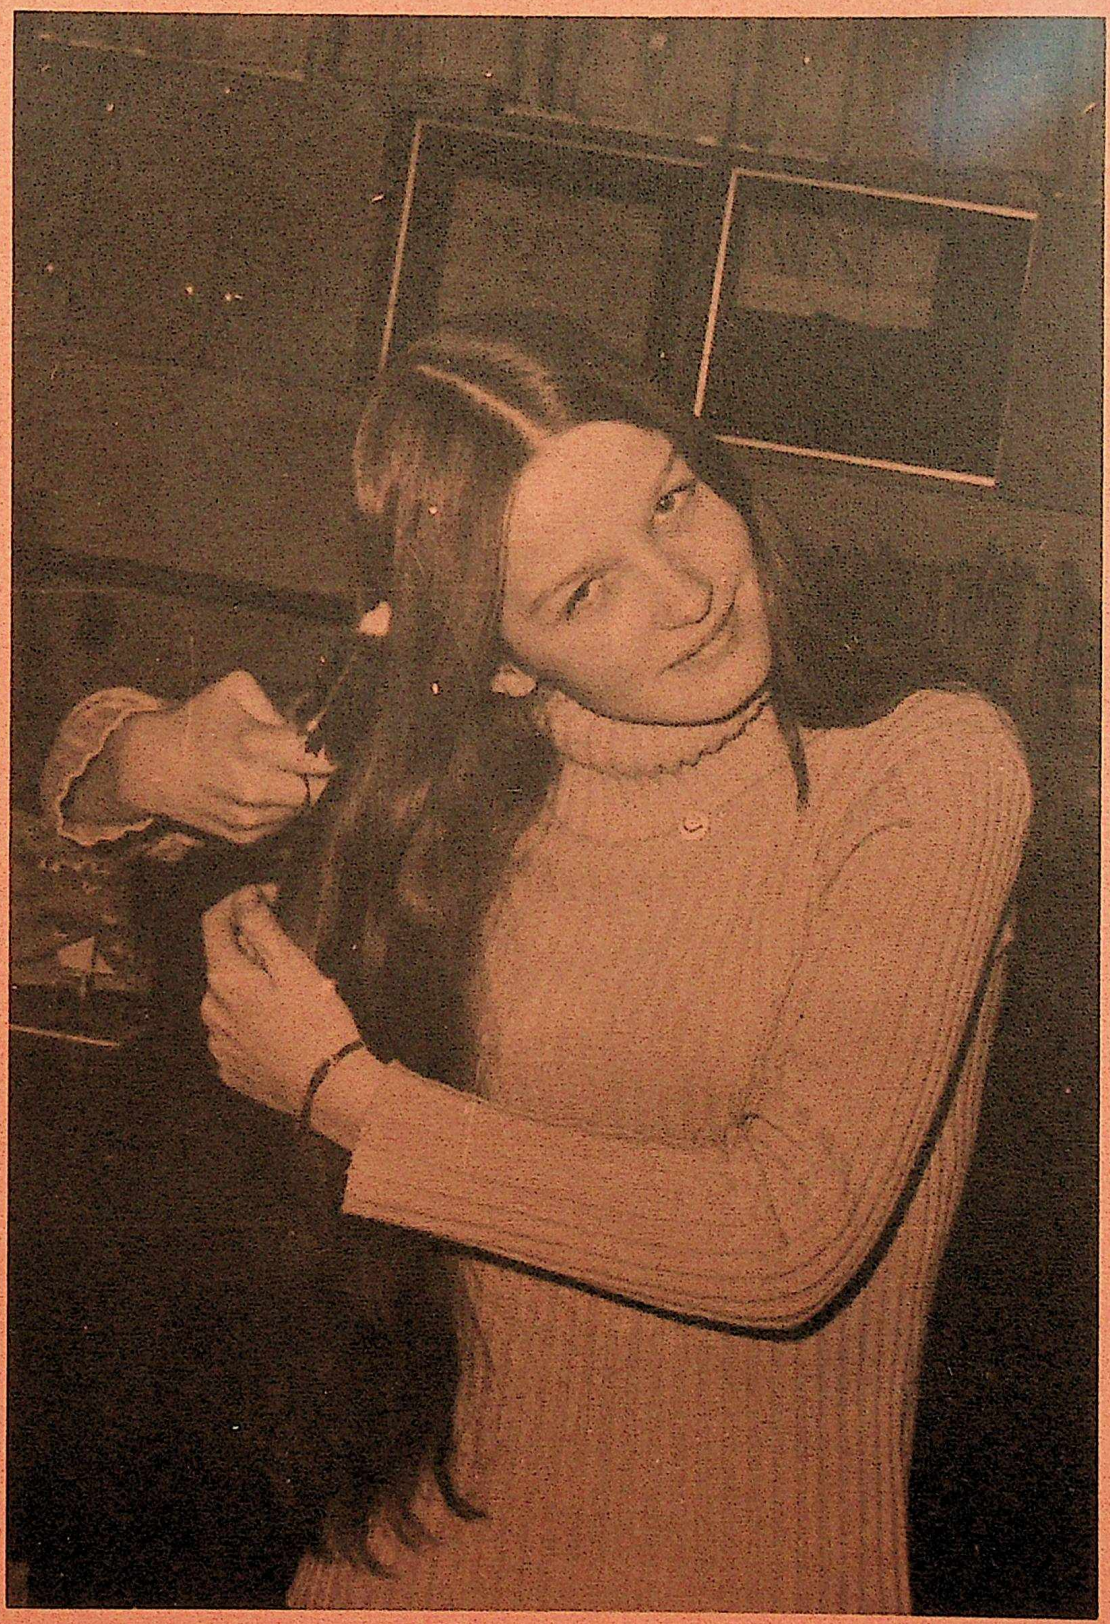
Girl watching . . . and there's many a male student . . . possibly even staff member . . . who will attest to the excellence of the distaff side. Herewith is a sampling of some of the local beauties.

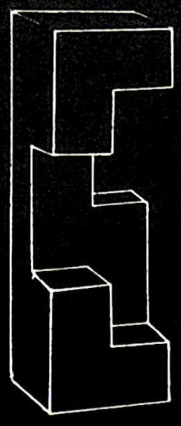






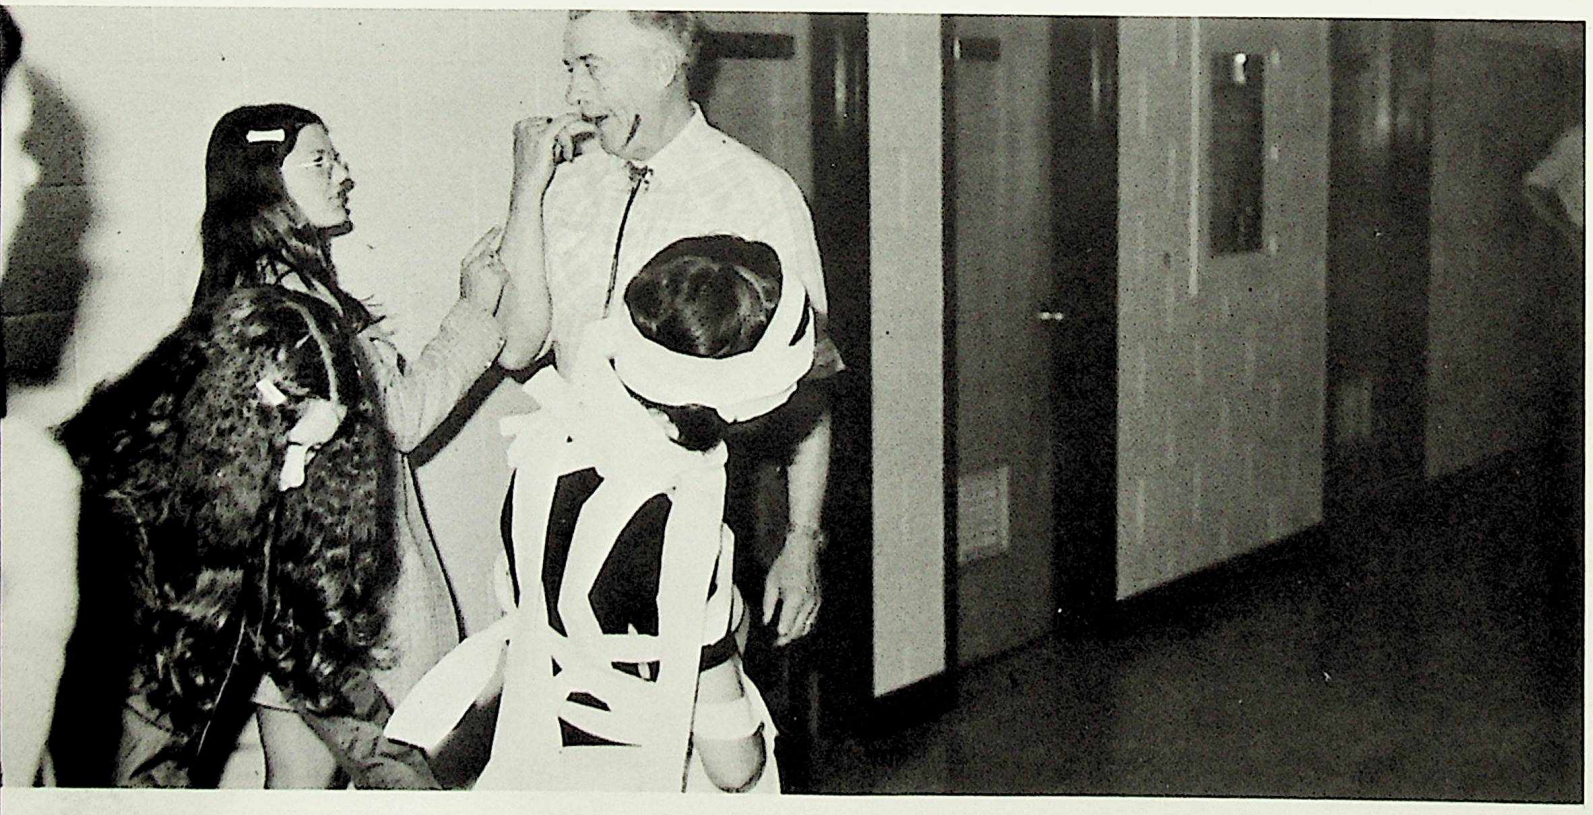
Whatever the day, whatever the way, people can be found being themselves and pursuing something . . . tangible and intangible . . . and the results are usually rewarding.



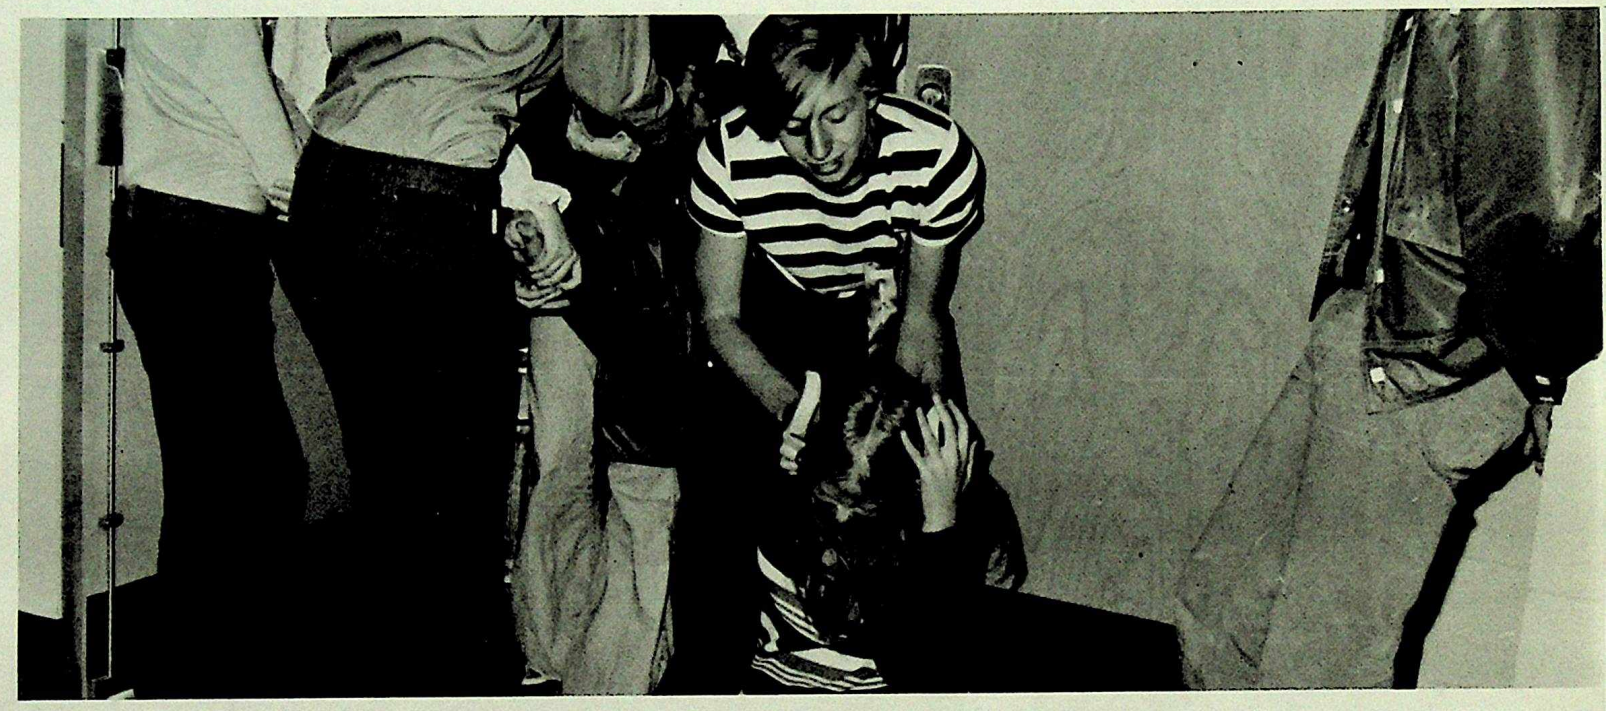


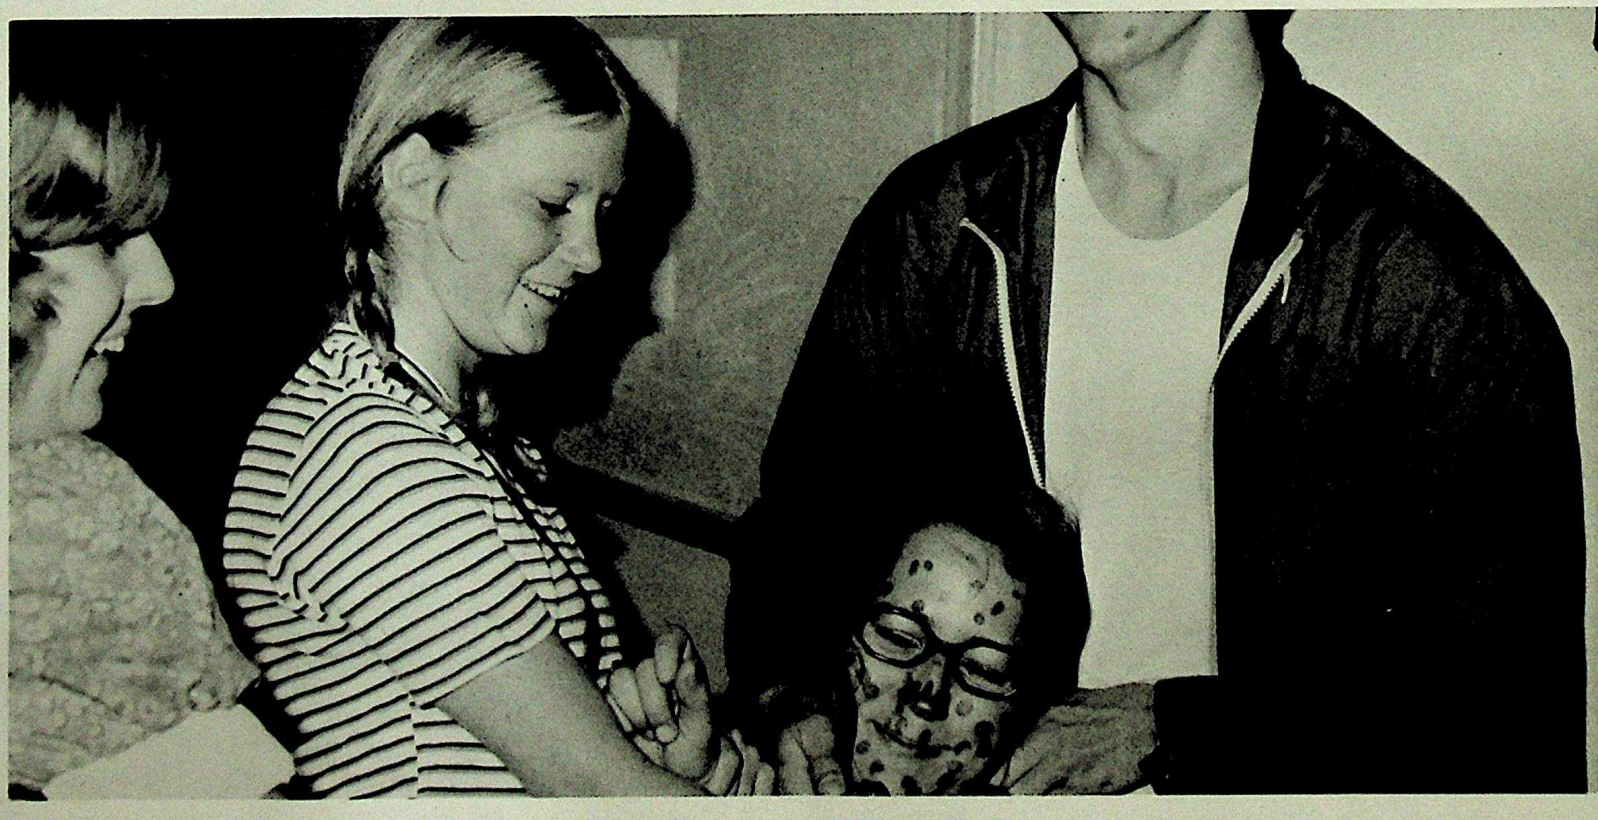
ACTIVITIES

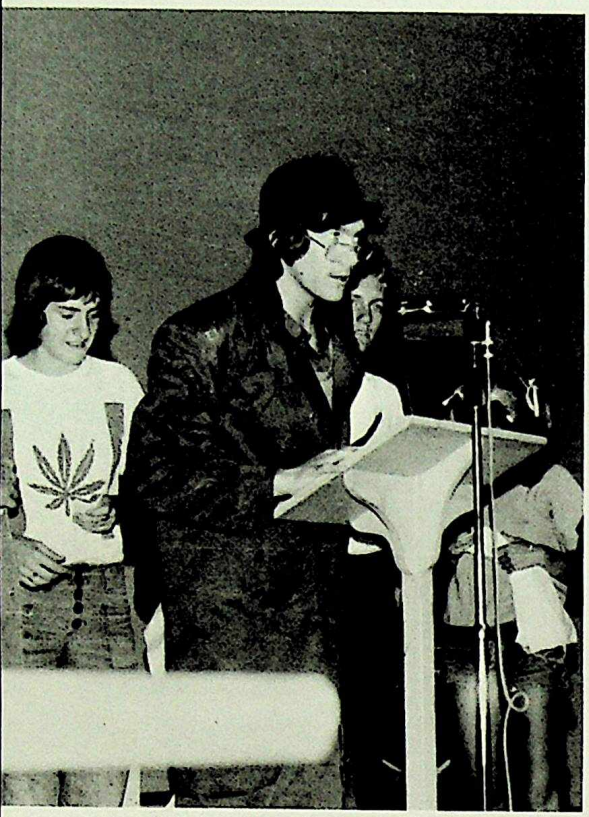
Not the most important, but certainly the most fun, ACTIVITIES are a spark igniting response and generating enthusiasm. Covering every conceivable event and any possible innovation the year's activity calendar included dancing, trotting (with turtles), water making, envelope-stuffing, shamrock stealing, blood donating, powder puffing and on and on almost endlessly . . . a great year for those who were with it.

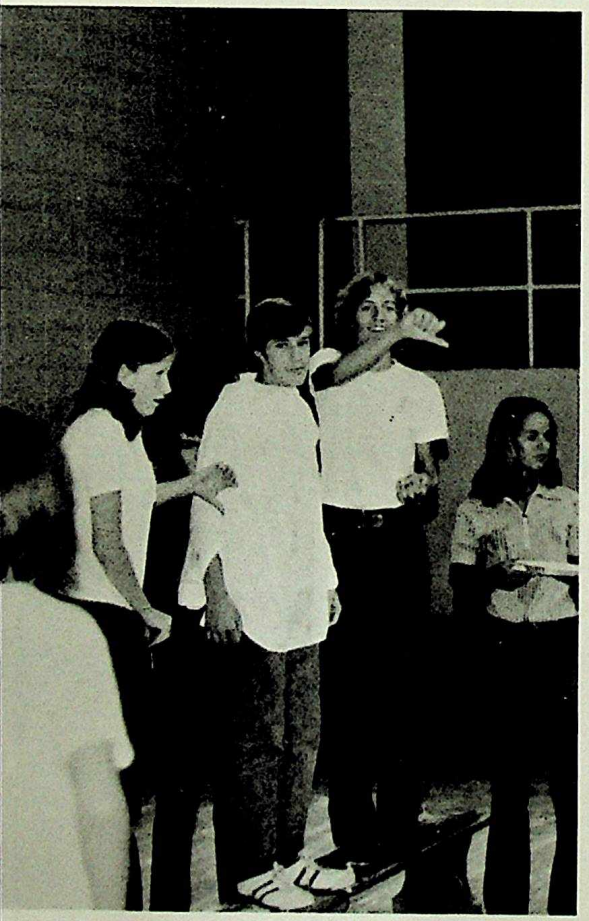


This year the grade twelves went all out to help the grade tens feel like they belonged. There was even a pancake breakfast for the frosh, made and served by frosh keepers.

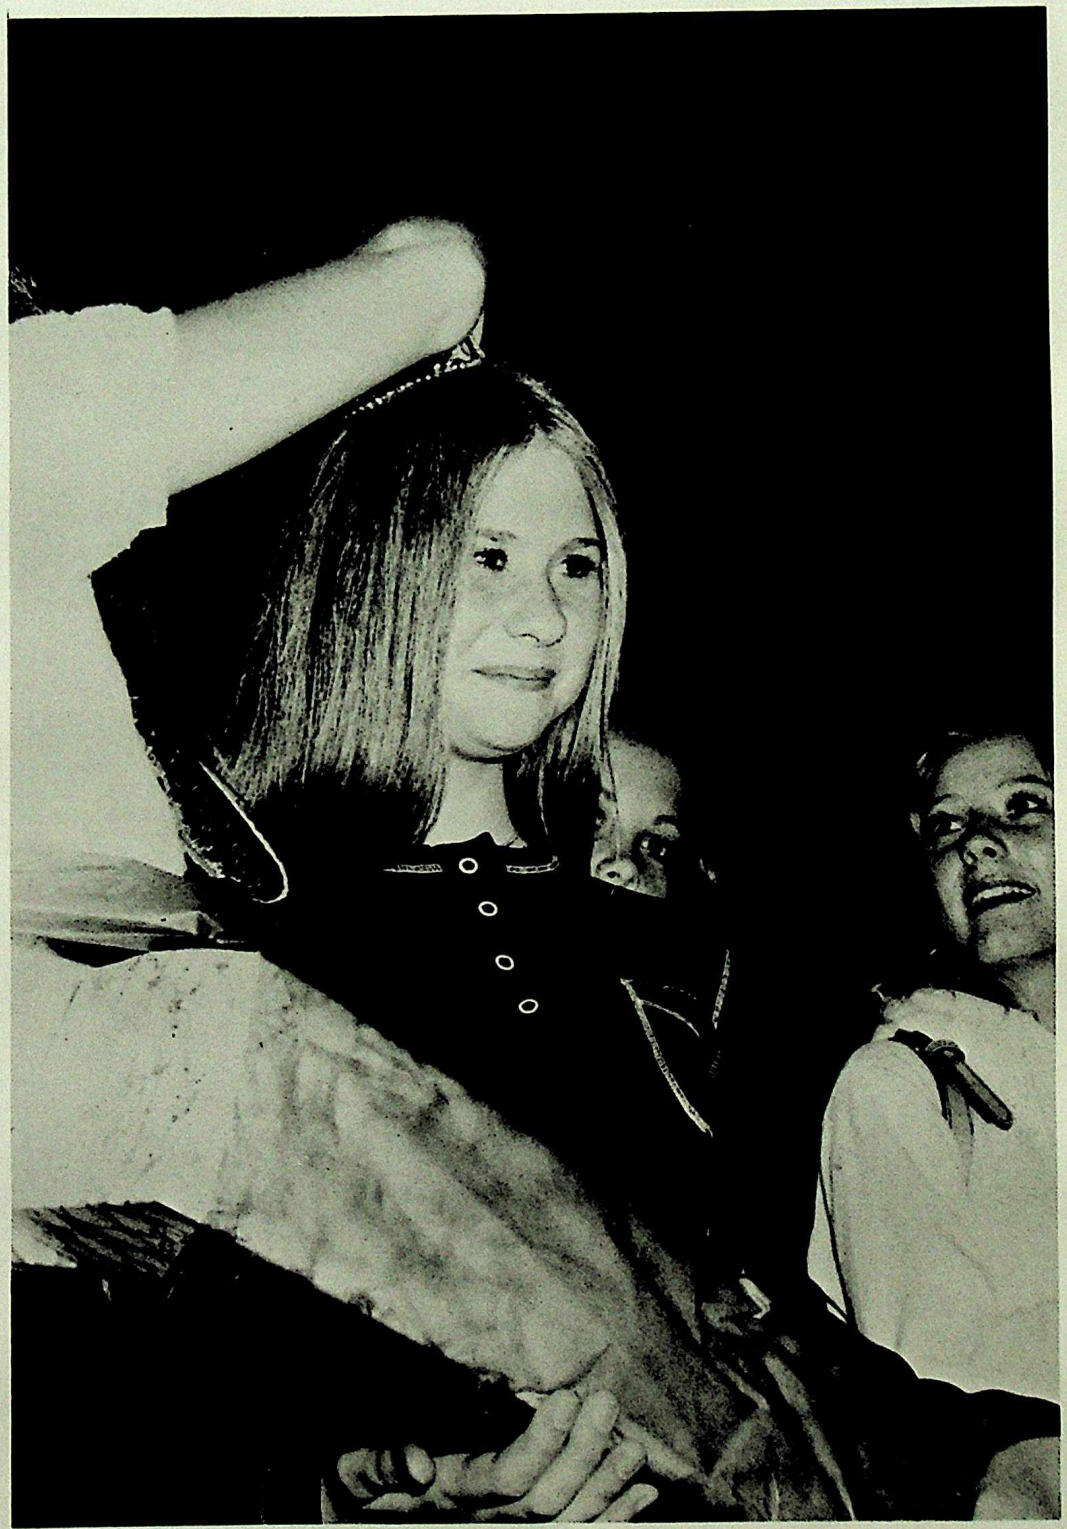




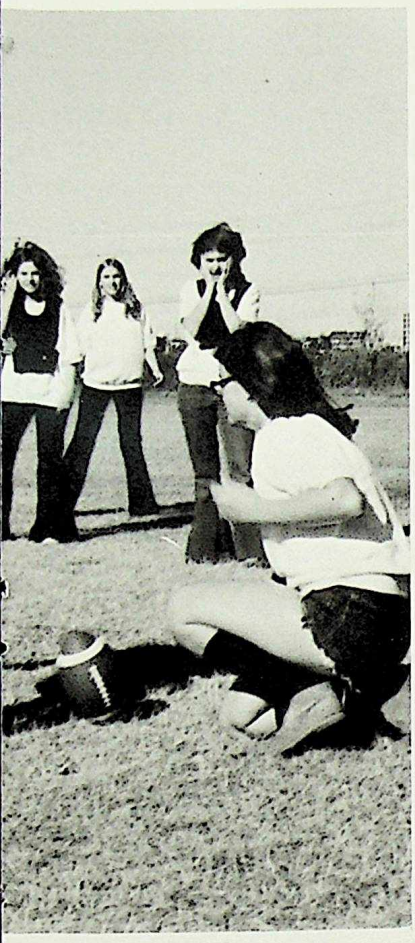




The annual Frosh Court held on the stage in the small gym was the most organized in years. By the time everyone got cleaned up, it was time for the Frosh Dance with Smile. Dalyce Kowalski was crowned Frosh Queen.



Powderpuff Football really separated the girls from the boys . . .



For once the boys were on the sidelines while the girls did the puffing . . .

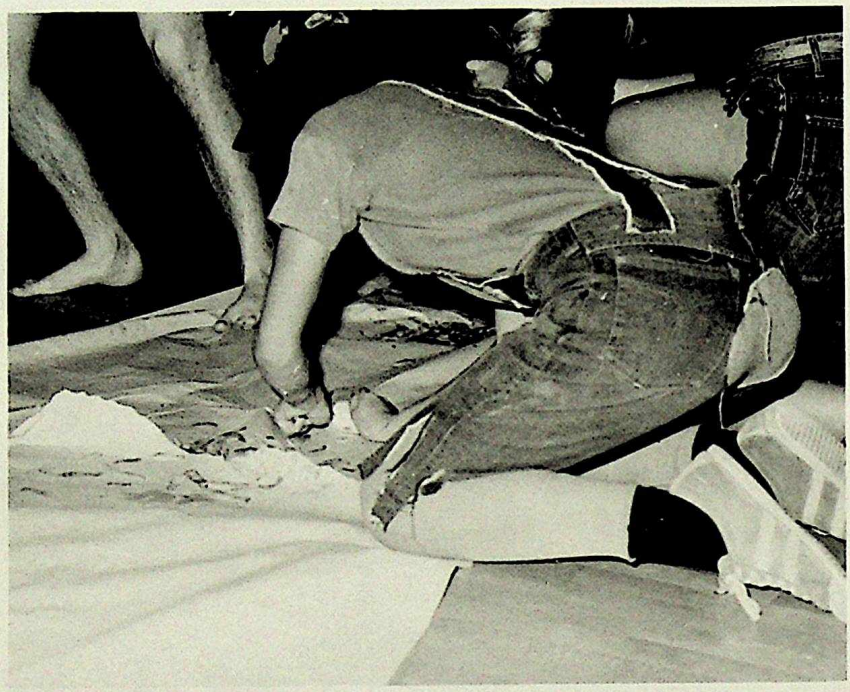
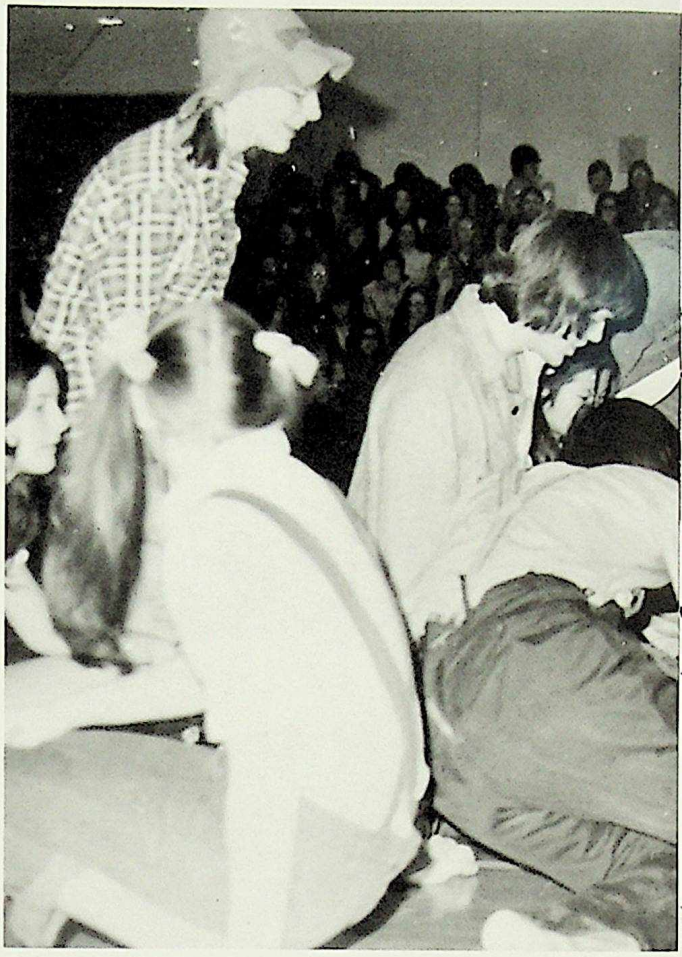
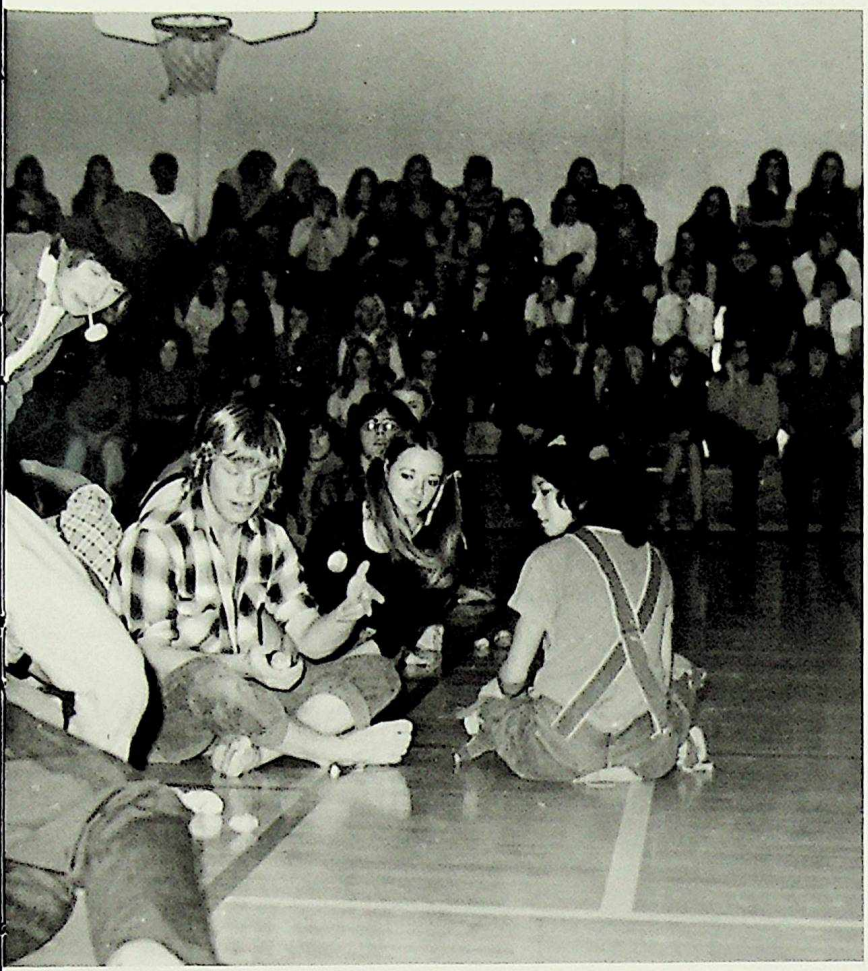
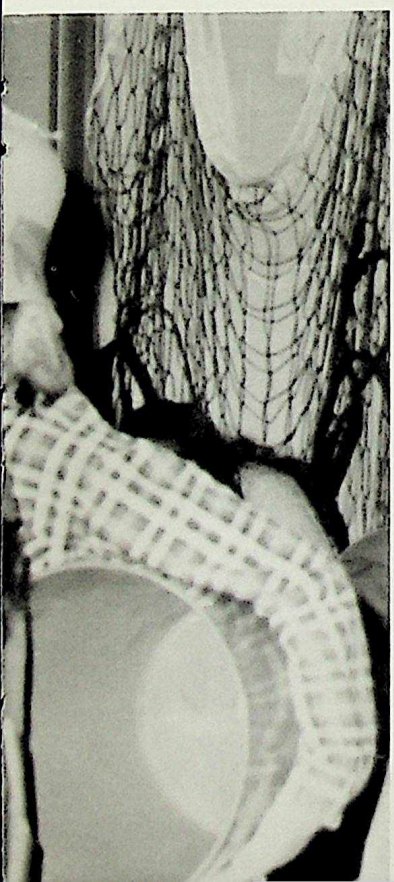
SADIE HAWKINS ACTIVITIES

The Sadie Hawkins noon hour activities, organized by the Social Committee, included some completely new events like potato peeling, clothes washing, and a chugalug contest. Southbound Freeway played at the dance.

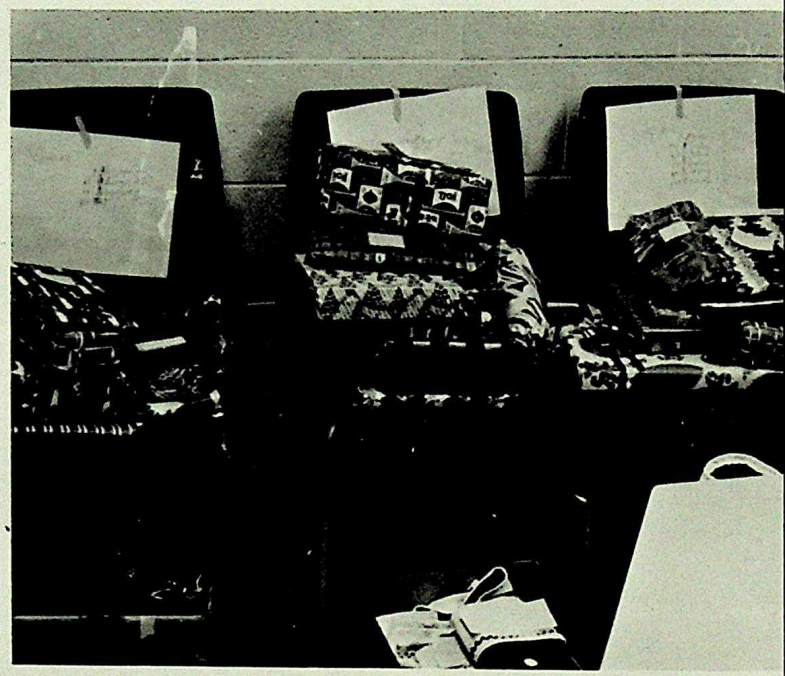


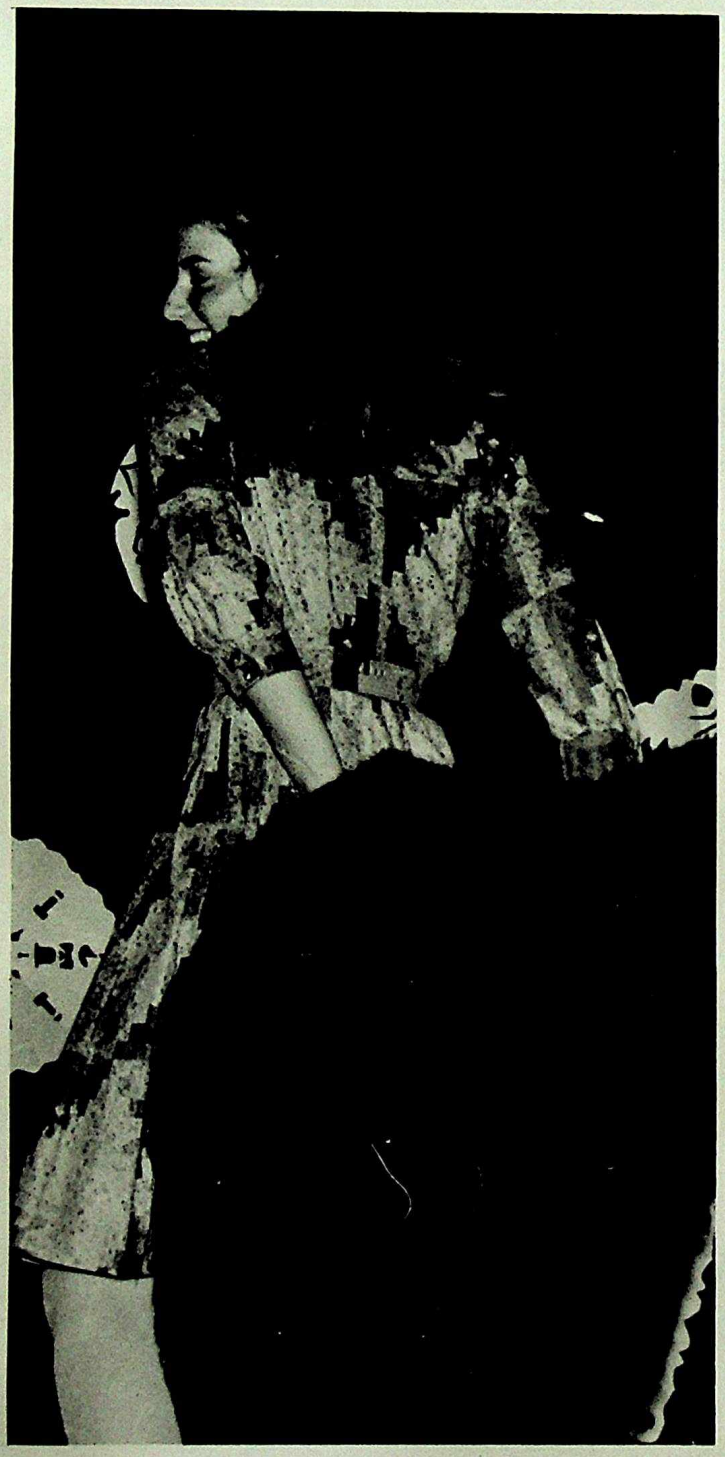


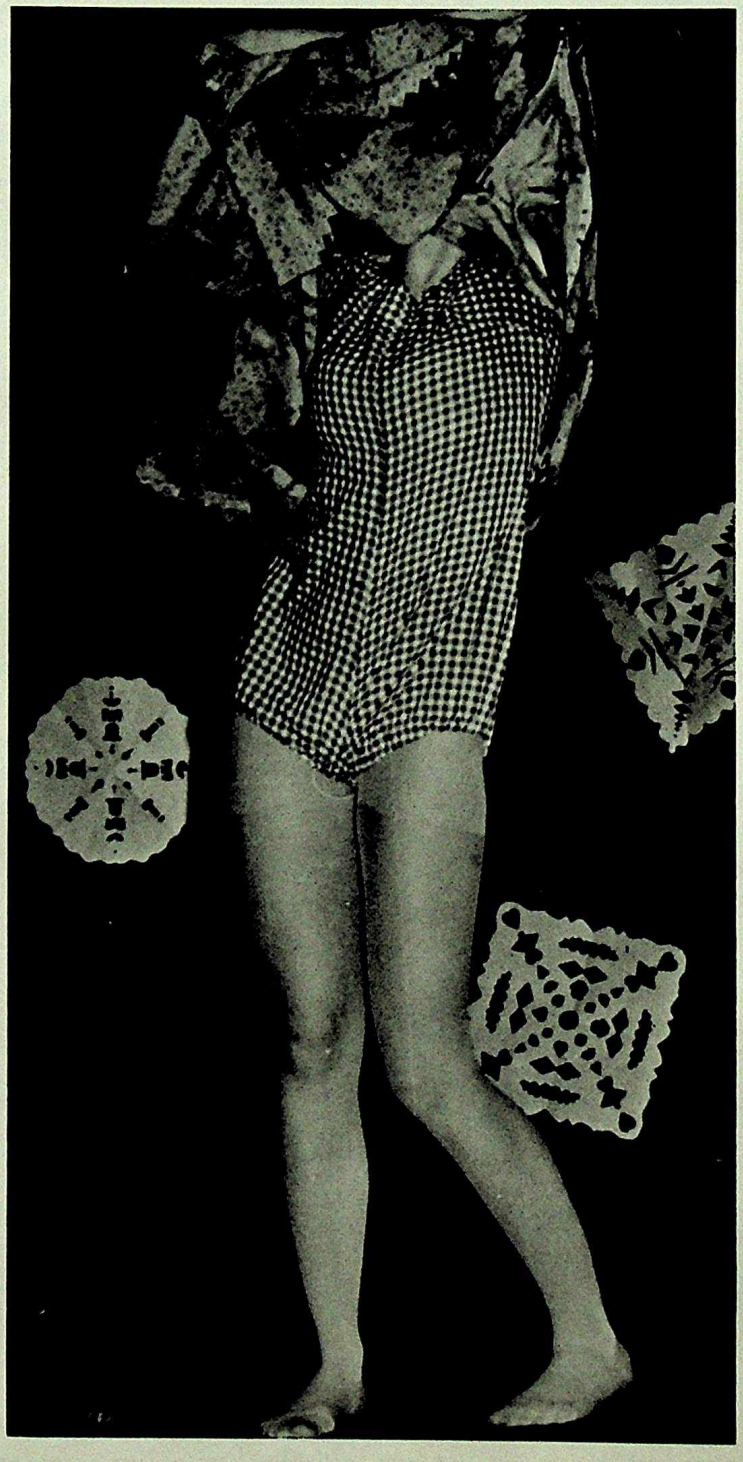


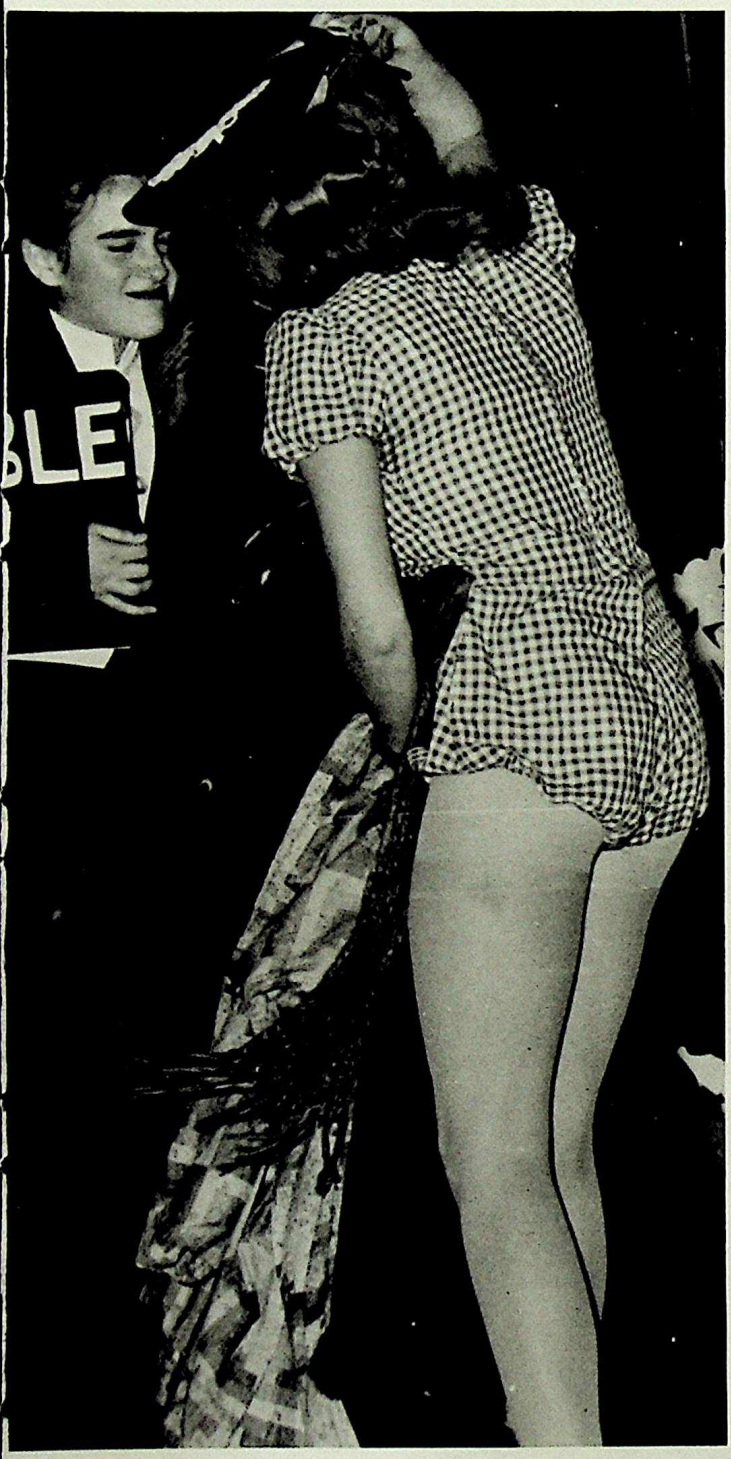


The Christmas Lit was nearly cancelled; but because of a lot of last-minute cramming by the student executive and cheerleaders, it went on as planned and was a lot of fun for all who attended. The spirit of Christmas was in McNally students, though, as they donated food, clothes, and toys to fill hampers for ten needy families.

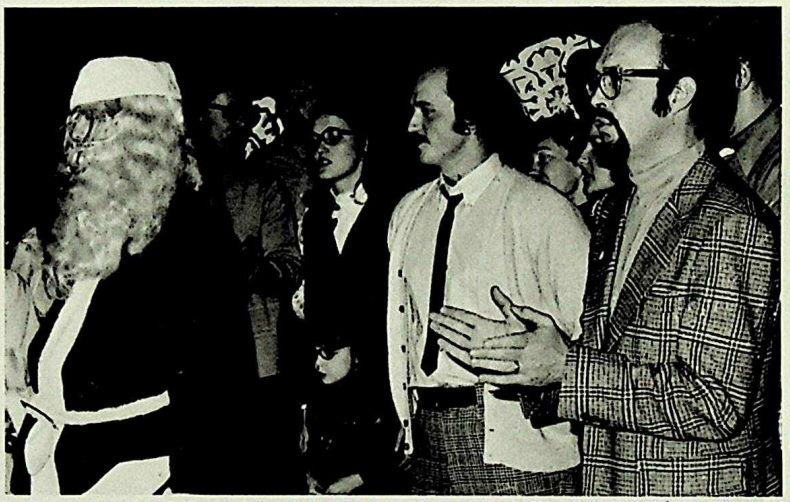


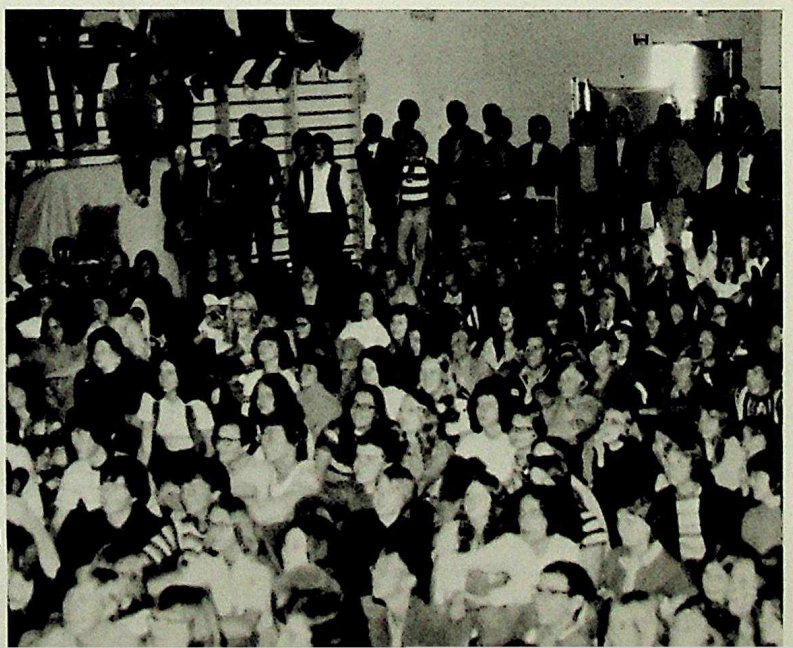




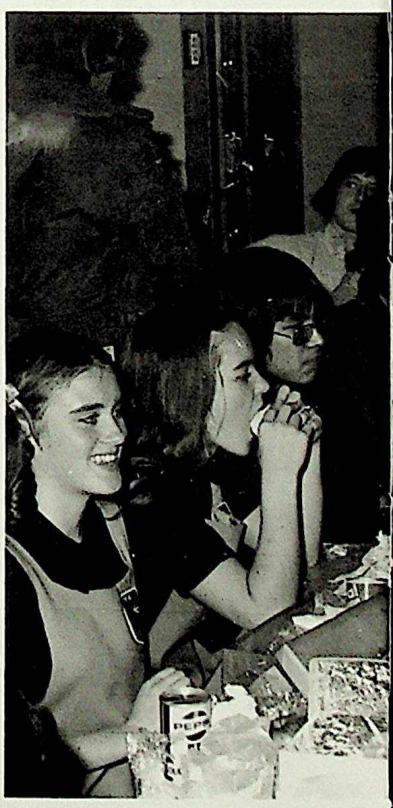


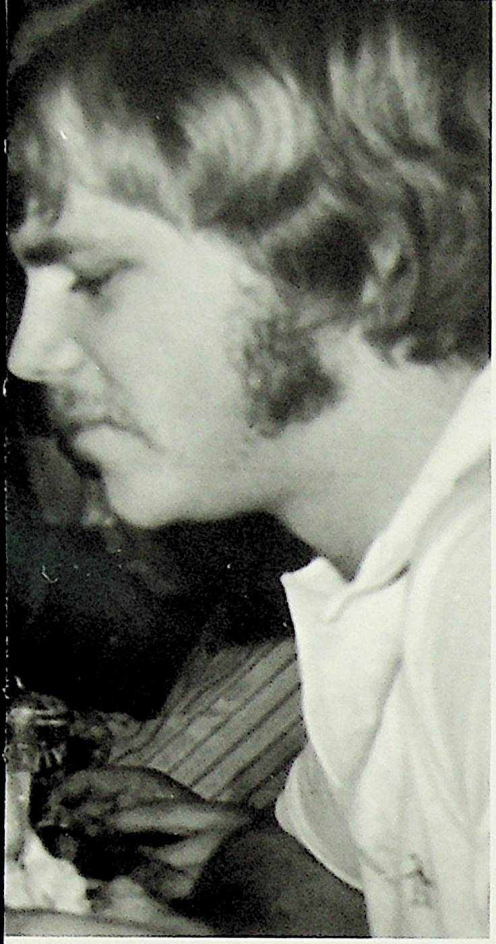
Three pictures . . . are worth a thousand words!



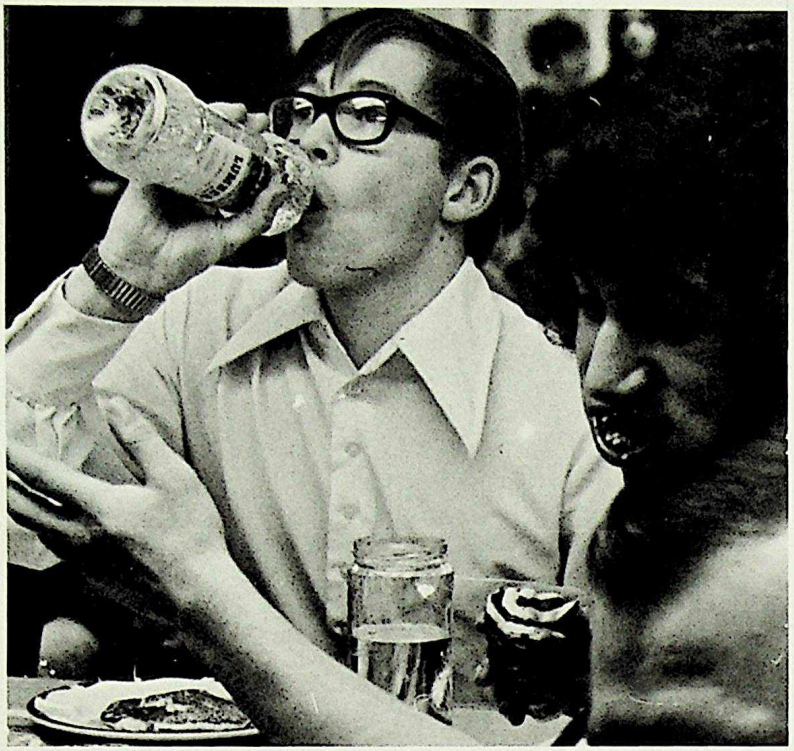


DIET PEPSI-COLA



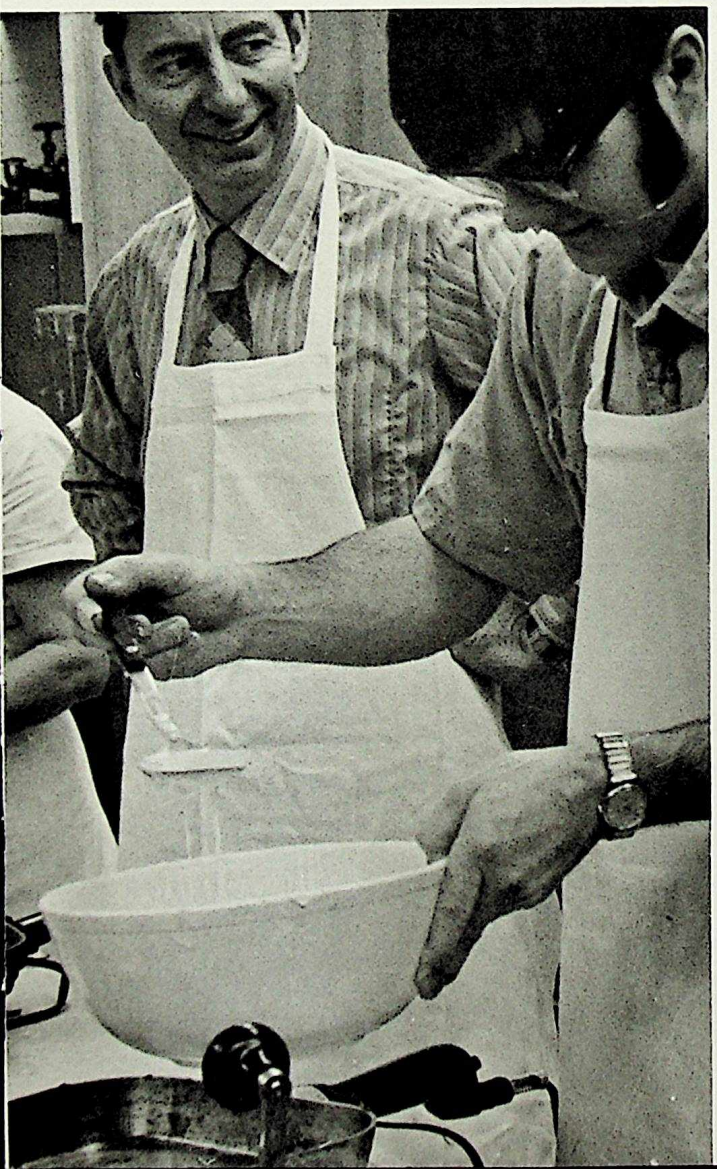


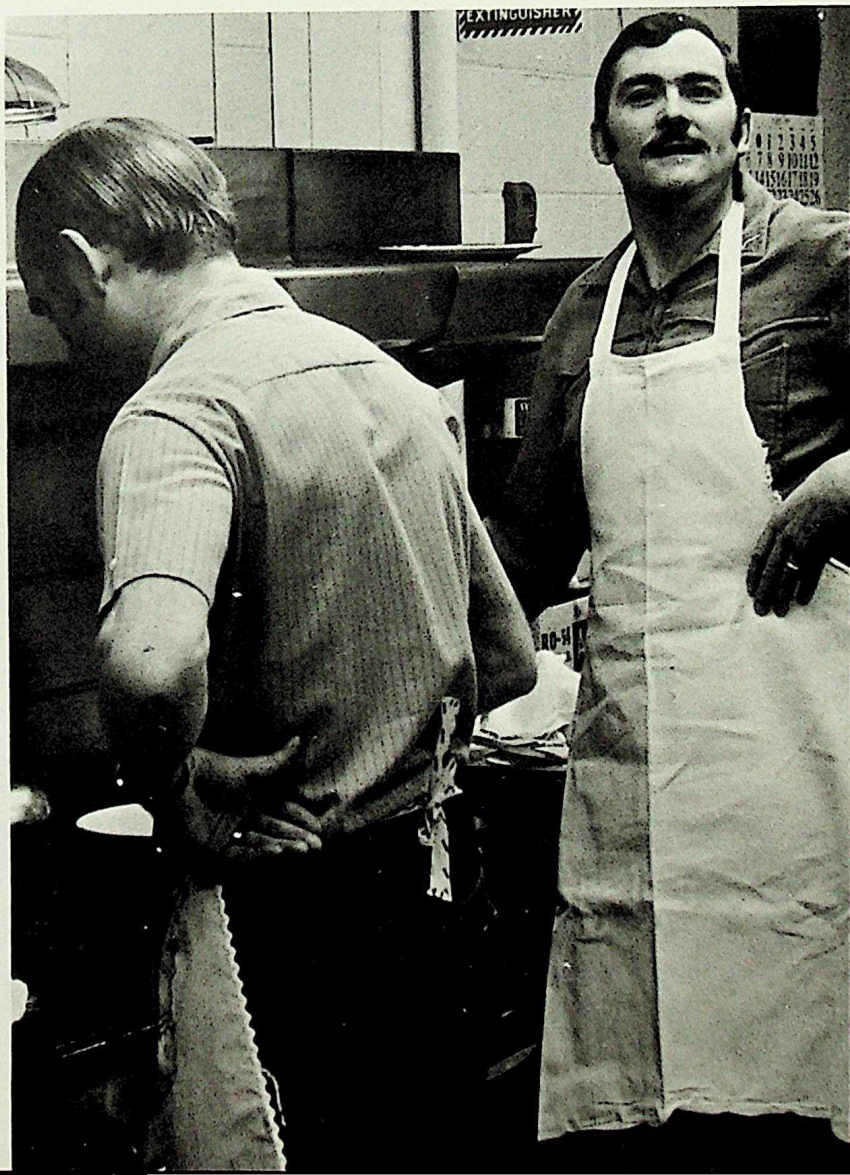
The cheerleader's Box Social — here it was — the perfect opportunity for a boy to get to know that cute cheerleader he'd been eyeing. Each girl made a lunch for two and the lunches were auctioned off to raise money. Some eager bidders ended up with two or three lunches and, of course, the co-eds who made them!



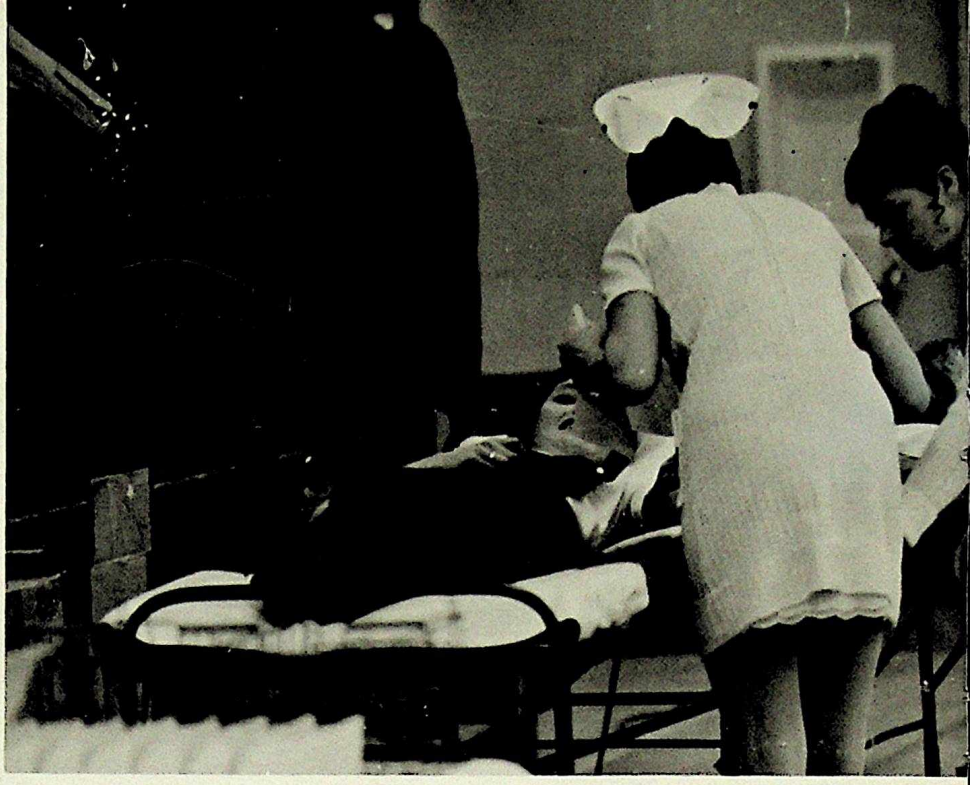
MUKI LUKI DAZE

Muki Luki Daze Pancake Breakfast — the staff were there dishing it out as usual! The winner of the contest was Andy Kettle, who managed to shovel in 22 of the little monsters. Kevin Mcdonald was second with 18

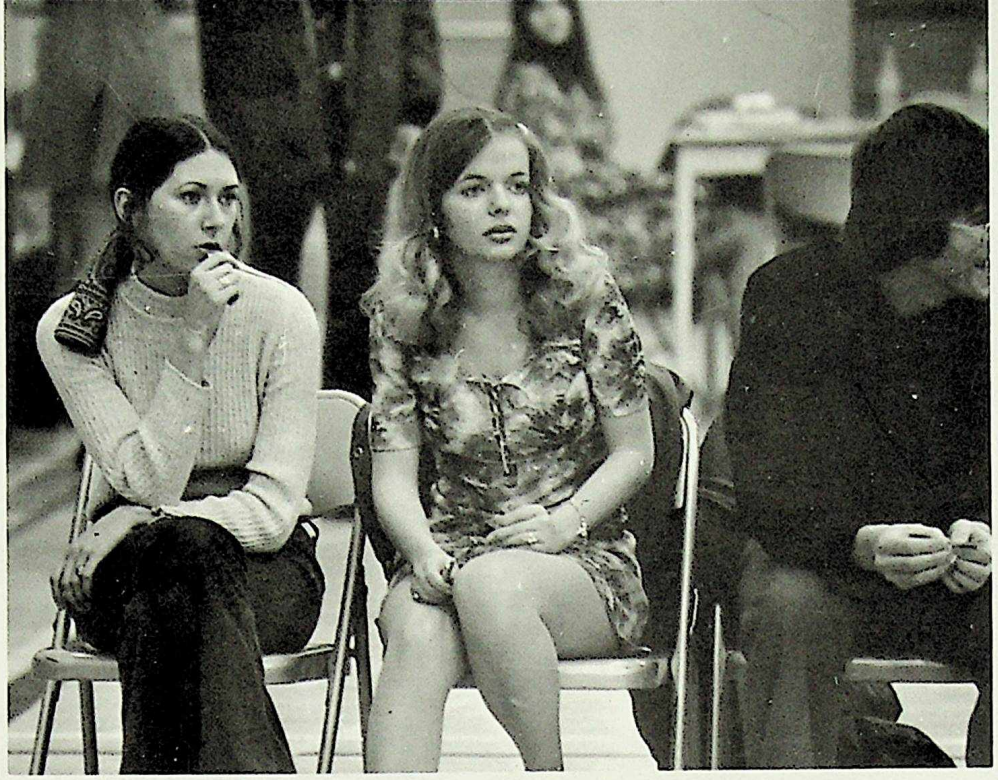


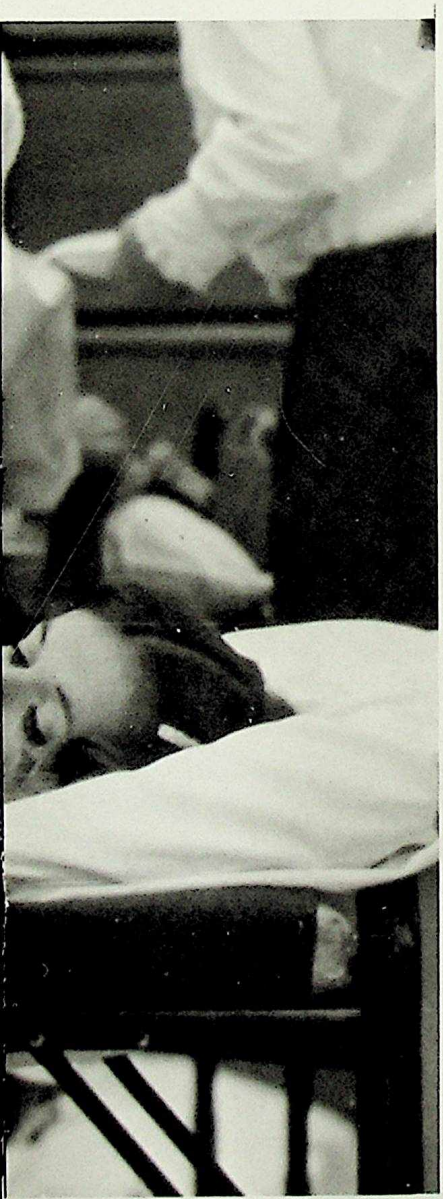


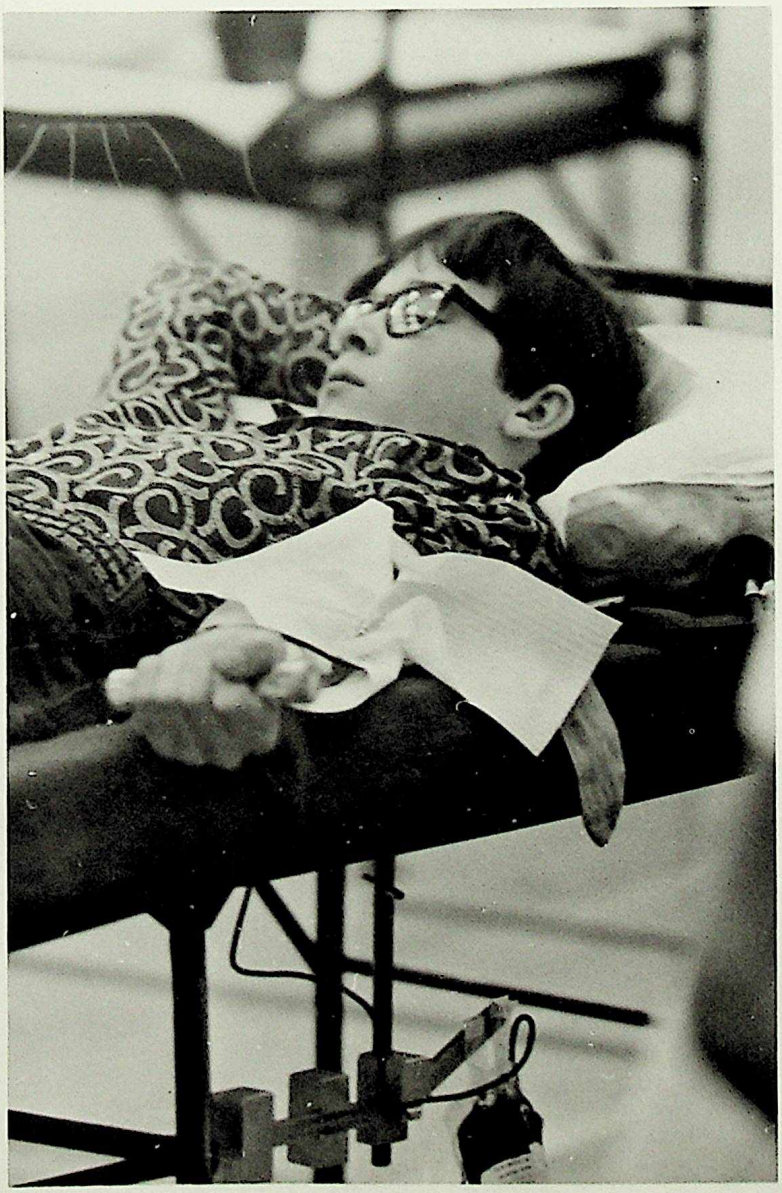
EXTINGUISHER

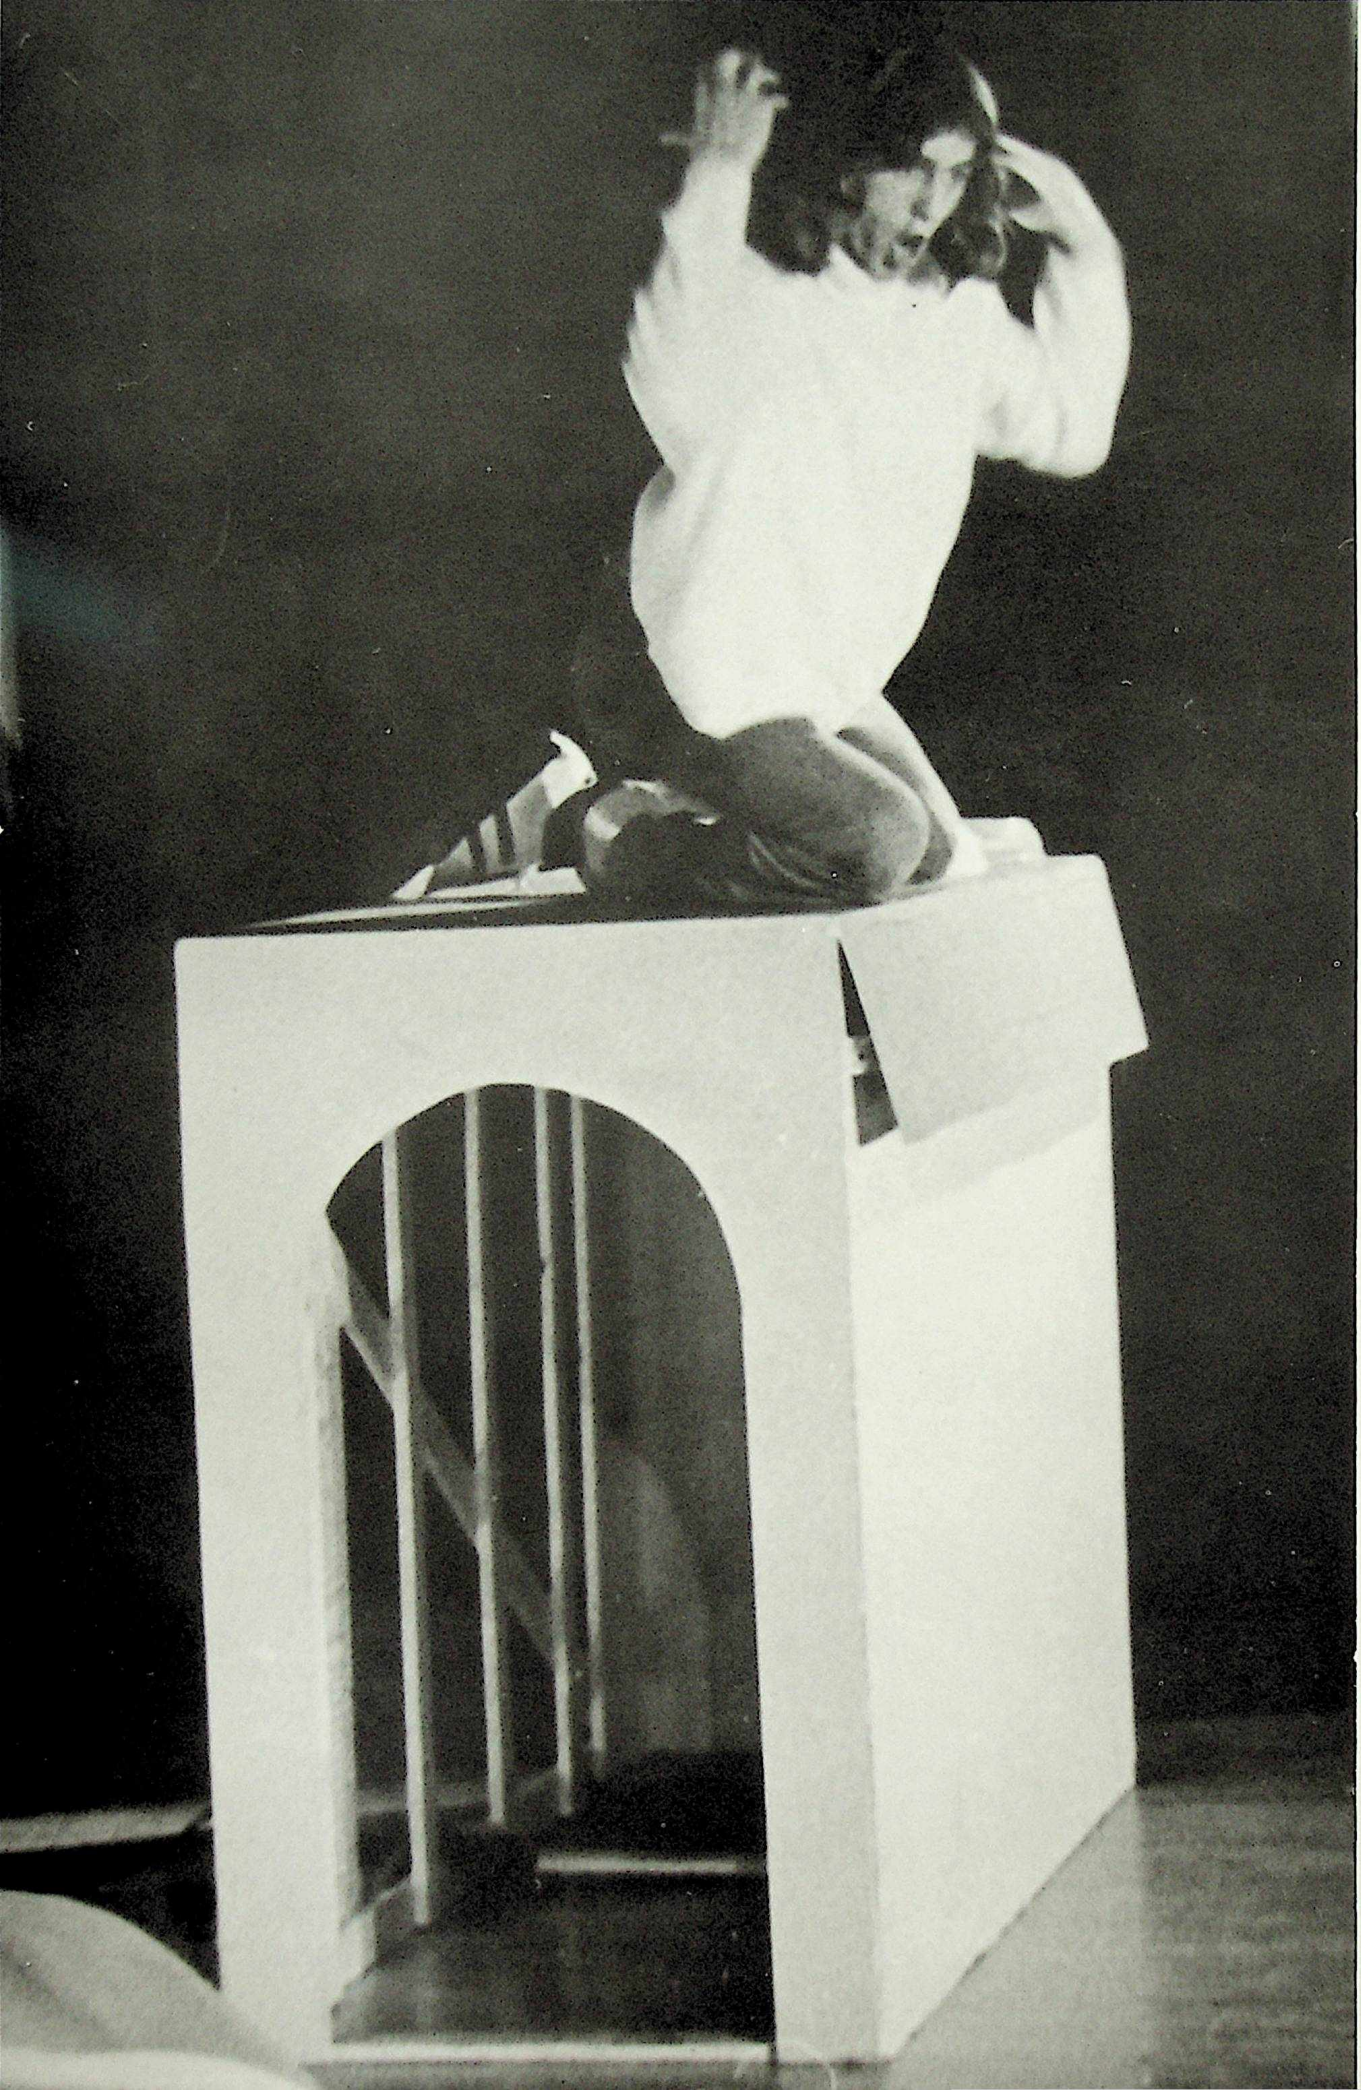


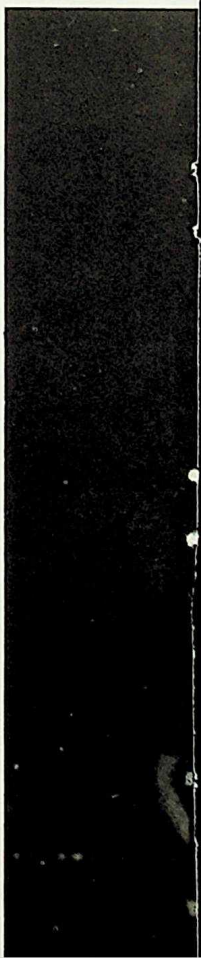
Who says McNally students aren't tough? They proved they were by donating more than 100 pints of blood at this year's Blood Donor Clinic. A marvelous time was had by all. A few people wilted, but there was always the coke and cookies at the end for revival purposes.

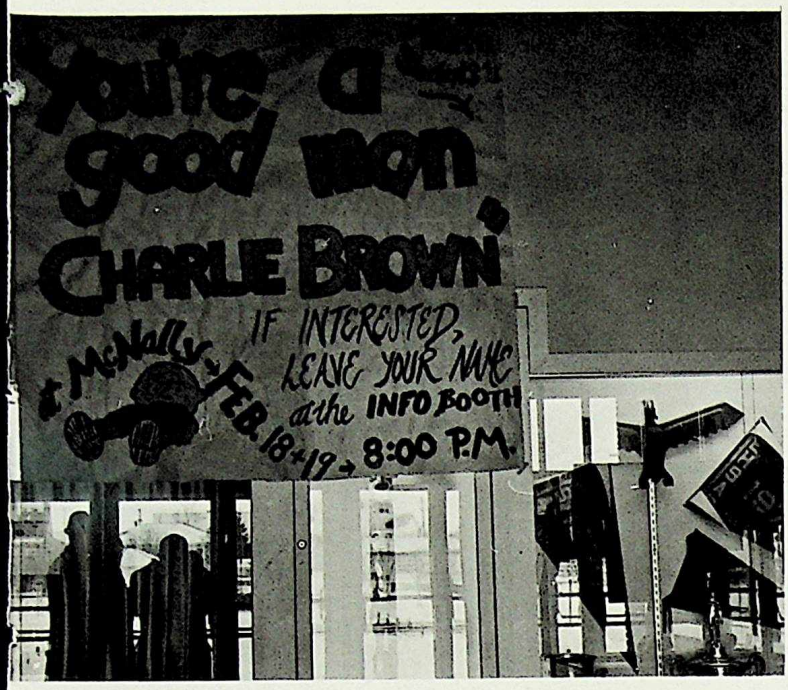


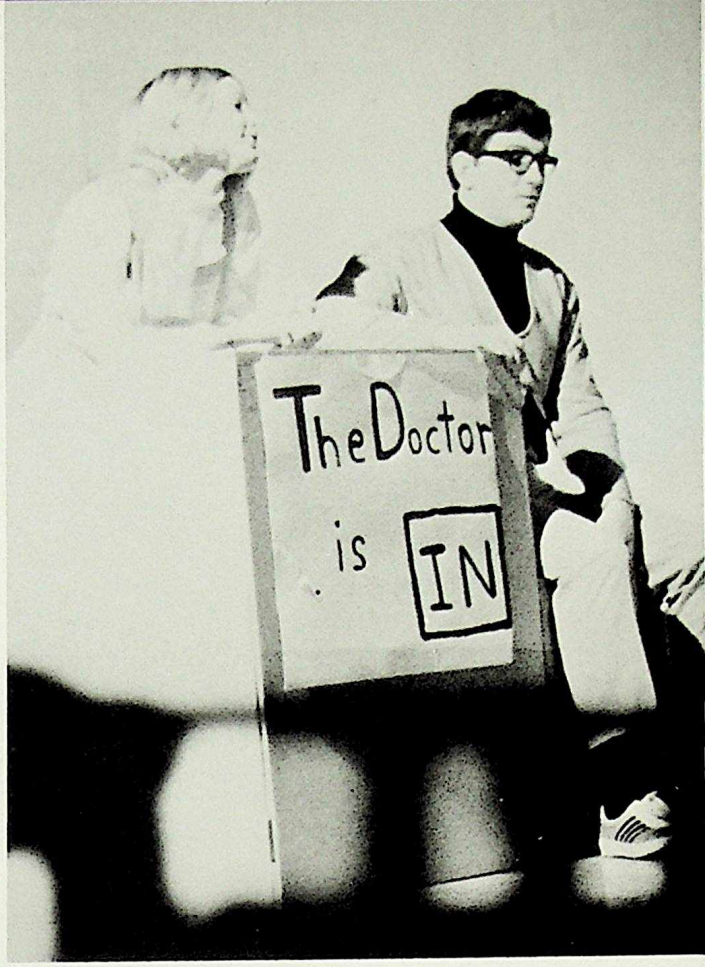




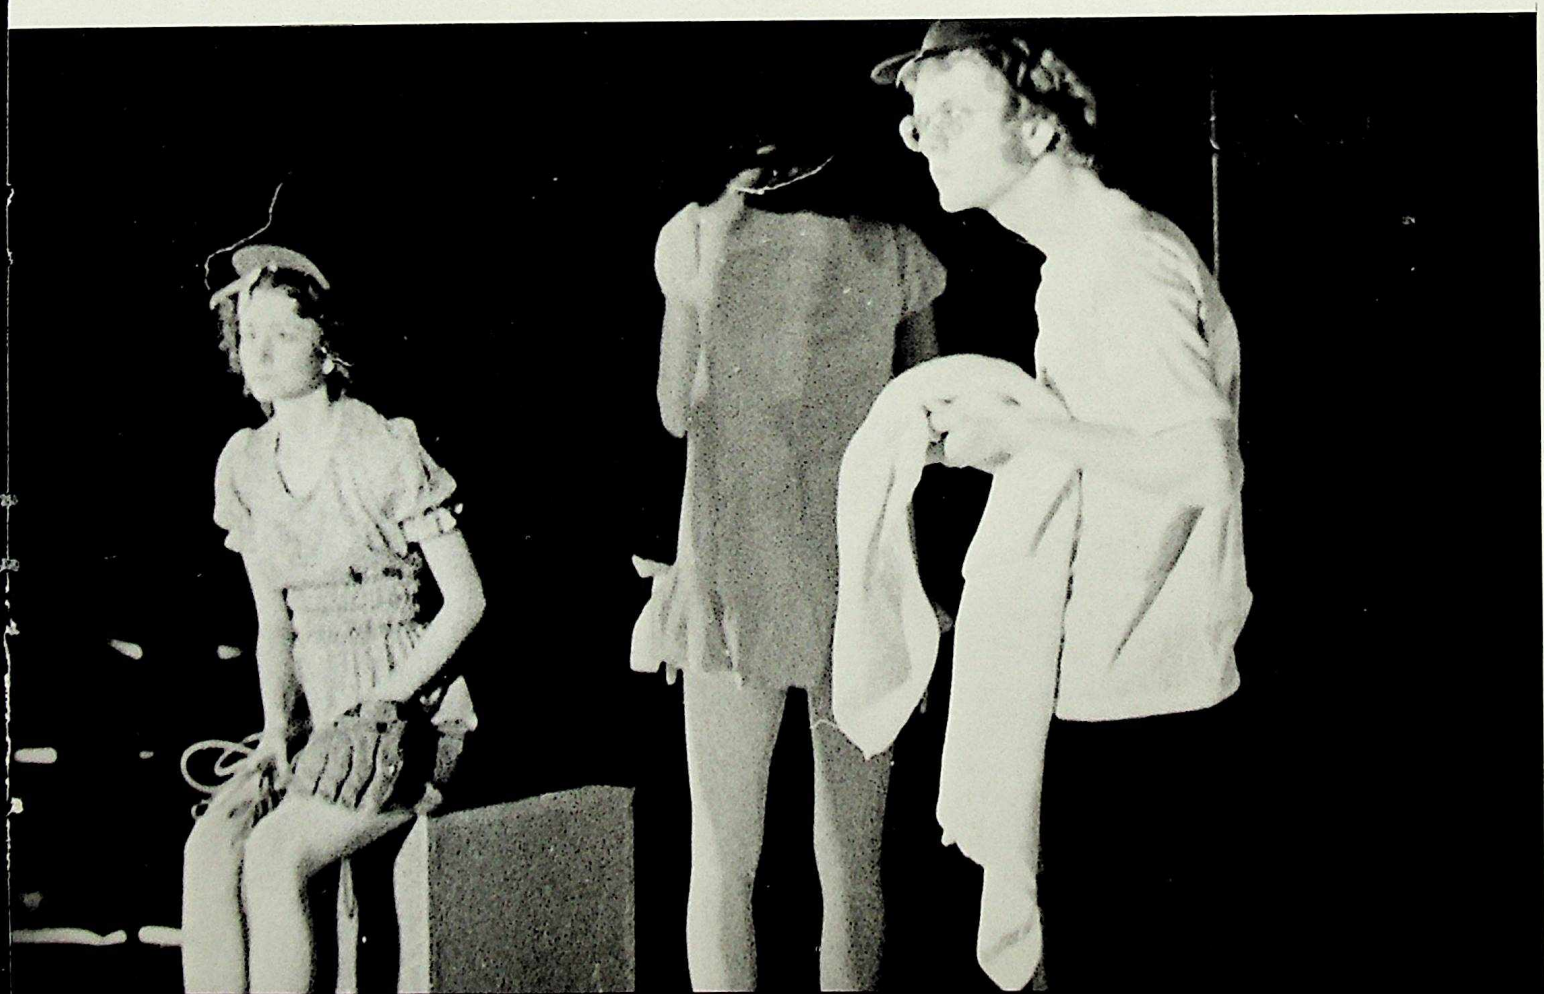




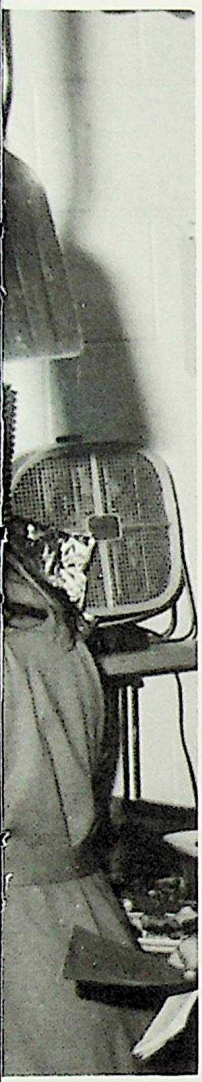




The music department, in a gesture of ambition and extravagance, staged the smash hit ot the season — "You're a Good Man Charlie Brown" This musical comedy played at McNally, the Student's Union Theatre at the U of A, and at a special performance in Lamont, Alberta. The stars of the show were Pete Mansell. Patty Goodwin, Brian Peterson, Myron Fehr, Kees Zawenburg , and Janice Homeniuk, under the superb direction of Mr. Don Goodwin. The entire production was accompanied by magical music from the McNally band.



Dashing Through the Snow was an appropriate title for the Senior Class Tea — you literally had to dash through mountains of that white stuff to get there. Held in conjunction with the Open House, the tea was a big success. Besides the scrumptious cookies, squares, tea and seasonal decorations, there was a roving fortune teller who obliged willing tea drinkers with promises of fame and adventure.



Junior Ch

The success of any team can be partly attributed to its farm system, and the cheerleader's organization is no exception. By no means minor leaguers in quality and performance, these girls were faithful supporters of all of McNally's junior teams, and many will be back next year as seniors.

The 1971-72 season has been a very busy and successful one for the club. McNally has entered teams in seven tournaments including the Alberta Schools Provincial Championships and an invitational tournament in Missoula, Montana. The club has been greatly assisted by its coaches Mr. Brian Caldwell and Mr. Gordon Mills.

Win-Loss Record

Debates against other schools	99
Number of debates won	68
Number of debates lost	31

Four McNally debaters have taken part in the CFRN high school debates. As a result of four wins and one loss in this series, McNally came first in the Eastern division and proceeded to the final eliminations.

Gail Black and Bill Rogerson debated their way through the Preliminary Rounds into the Final Rounds in April.

McNally's team of Bill and Gail won the open event in the Louis St. Laurent tournament. McNally also came first in overall standings.

Hosting its second tournament of the year, the Invitational Co-Ordinate Tournament held in January, the club entered seven individuals, placing first in the overall standings and first, second, and third in individual rankings — Gail Black, Bill Rogerson and Brenda Draper respectively.

Students' Union

For most of this year's executive, it was their first involvement with student union activities, responsibilities and the many new accompanying experiences: doing the thankless jobs no one else wants to do, Tuesday hassles at executive meetings, all kinds of boards and committees and headaches. But many good things were accomplished: dances that almost broke even, better communi cation and understanding between the executive as a result of the workshop at Lake Isle, collecting donations and packing and delivering the Christmas hampers. Through co-operation between parents, administrators and students' union, indoor smoking areas were opened for the first time. At times the executive seemed to include anyone with a study who happened to be in the conference room . . . period 5 and 6 was a time when kids got together to discuss, criticize, make posters and offer suggestions for new activities.

And they made it through the year . . . no resignations, no hard feelings and a really commendable job done by everyone.

Senior Cheerleaders

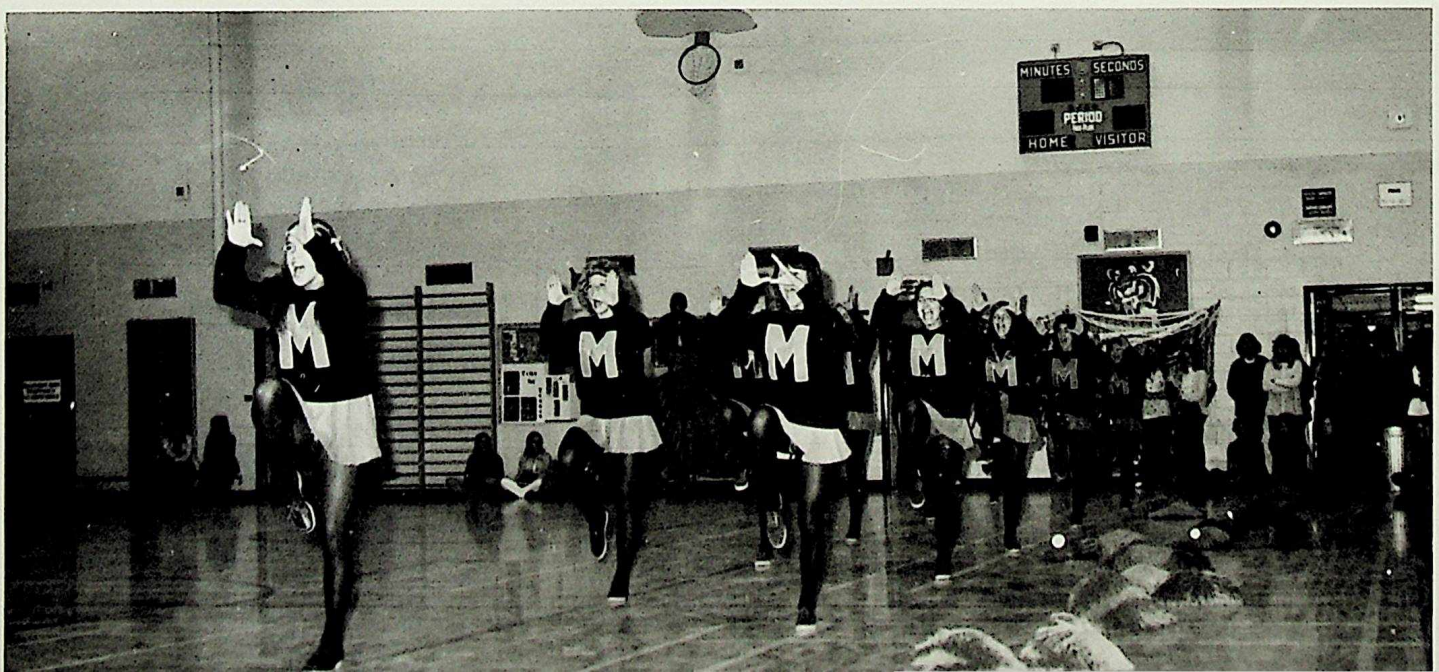
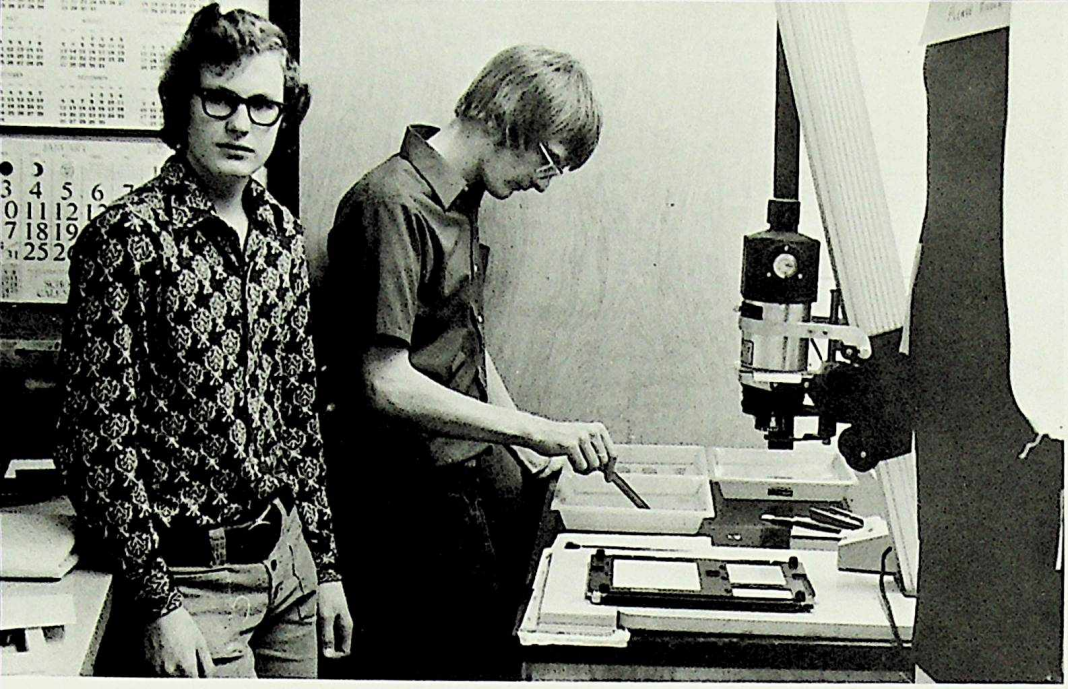
This year McNally's Senior Cheerleaders have again kept up the tradition of an excellent squad. Many hours of practice went into cheering for a great team along with great fans. The cheerleaders went on to the CAPHER tournament and captured the title of "Best in the City". In February they were invited to Warburg to compete against rural cheerleaders. Again our McNally girls took first place and returned home victorious.
The squad appreciates the support and enthusiasm of the fans in cheering our Tigers on. Those who are leaving wish the new squad "good luck" and all the best in 72/73.

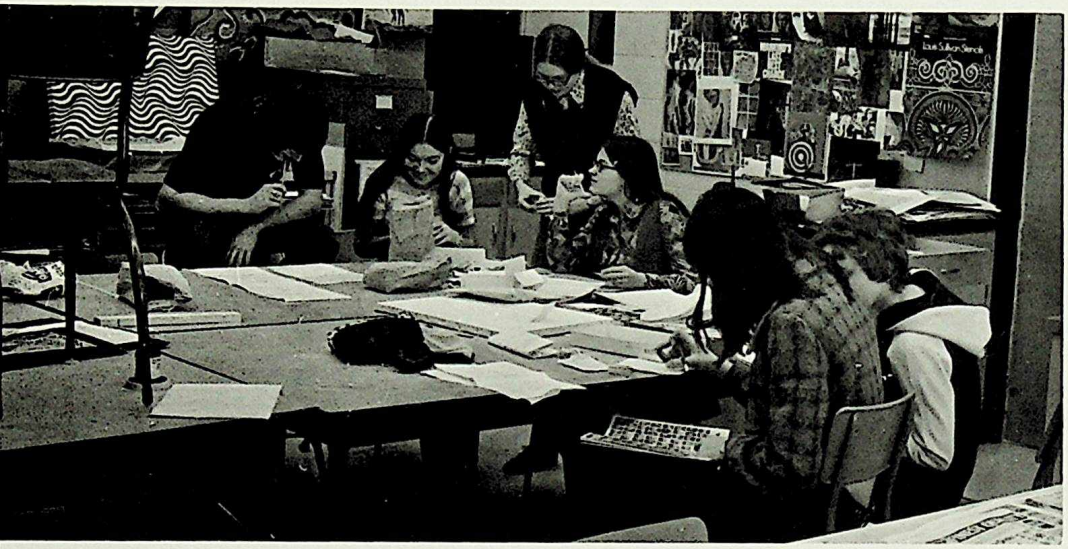


EATON'S SALUTE TO YOUTH

Eaton's offered each high school in Edmonton a chance to promote their colors and activities with a three day display in the store. Orange and brown buttons, bows, balloons and candies were given away by the spirited McNallyites who manned the display. A silver collection was taken in a paper maché turkey and this money was used to buy turkeys for the Christmas hampers.

M
MC NALLY COMPOSITE HIGH





The Trend is now recognized as probably the finest yearbook in the province; accolades have come to the editors and staff from many sources, and students of this city know that the McNally yearbook is definitely the trend-setter in Edmonton.

TREND STAFF

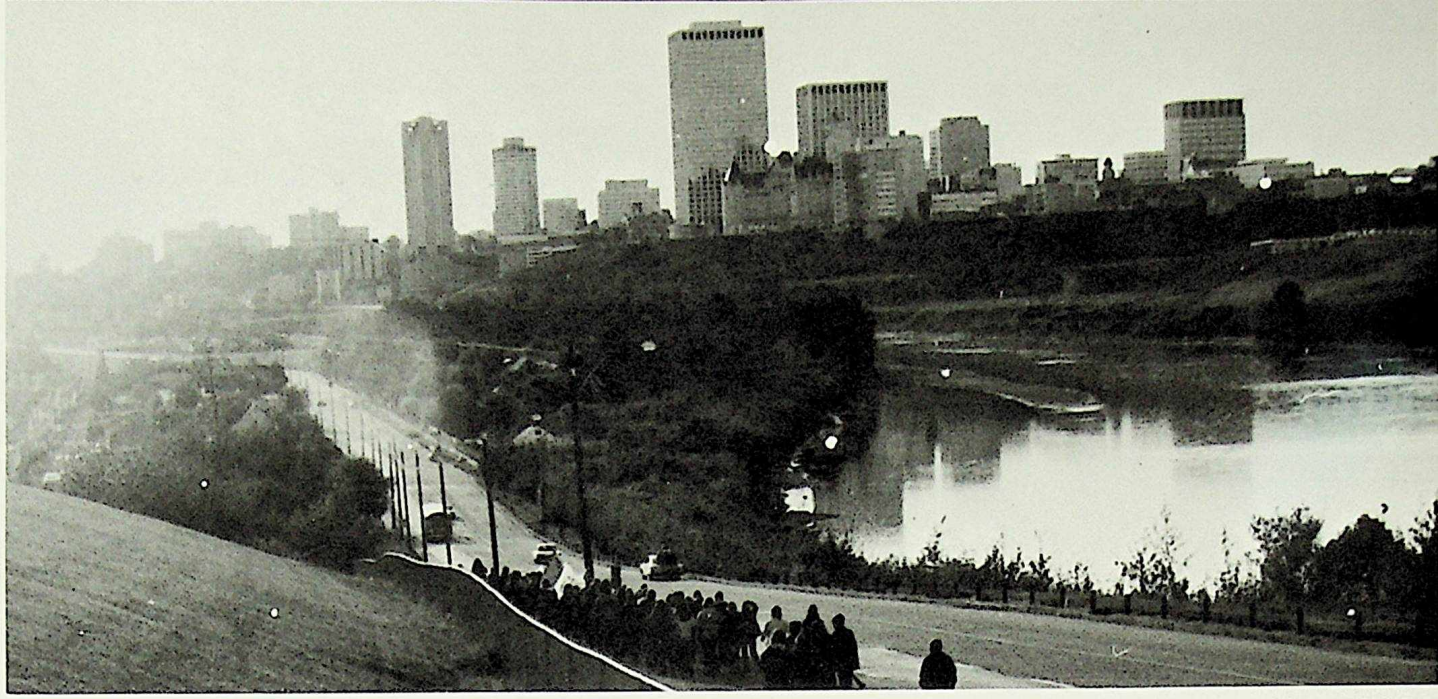
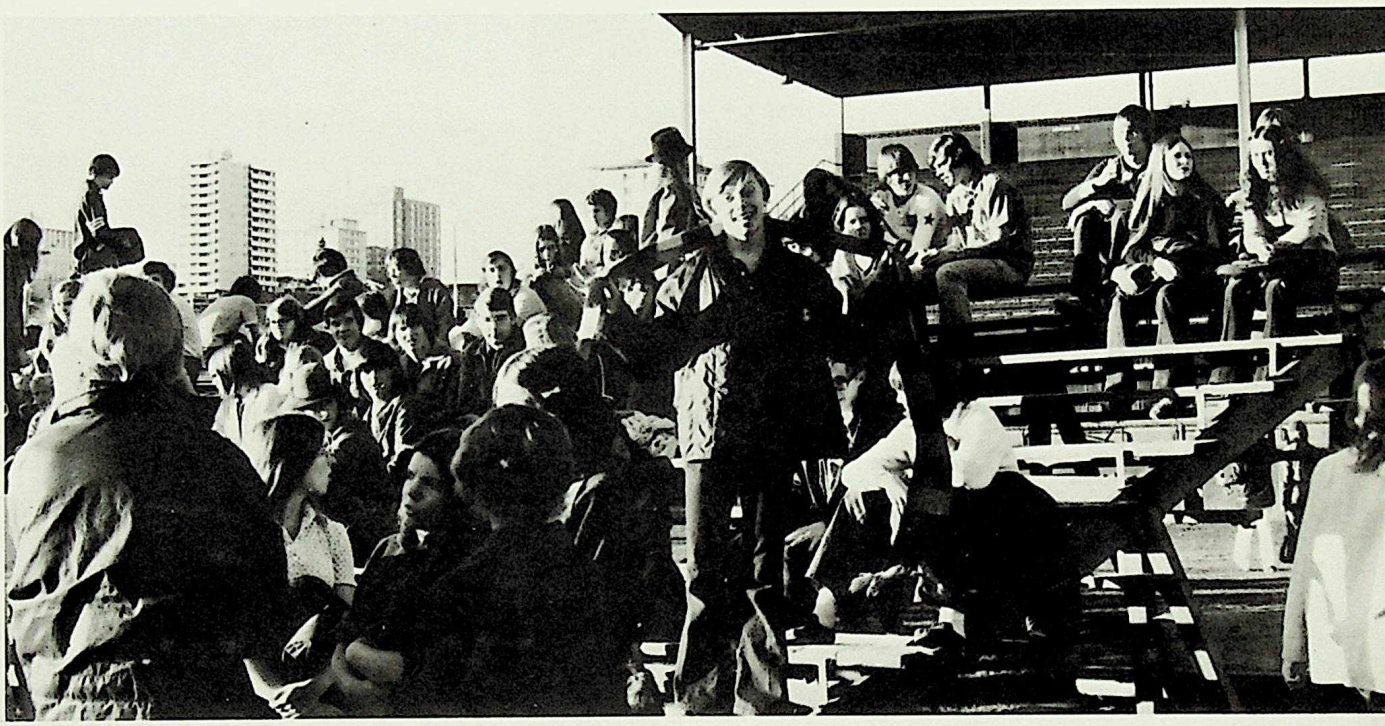
This year's football season started with a Spirit Parade. Over 100 enthusiastic fans turned out with humazoos, noisemakers, beanies, and plenty of orange and brown spirit. With Throg Morton, the school mascot, soaring above their heads, the marchers snaked down 98 Avenue and across the Low Level bridge. With the assistance of a police escort and an abundance of chauvinism, the parade was an instant traffic-stopper . . .



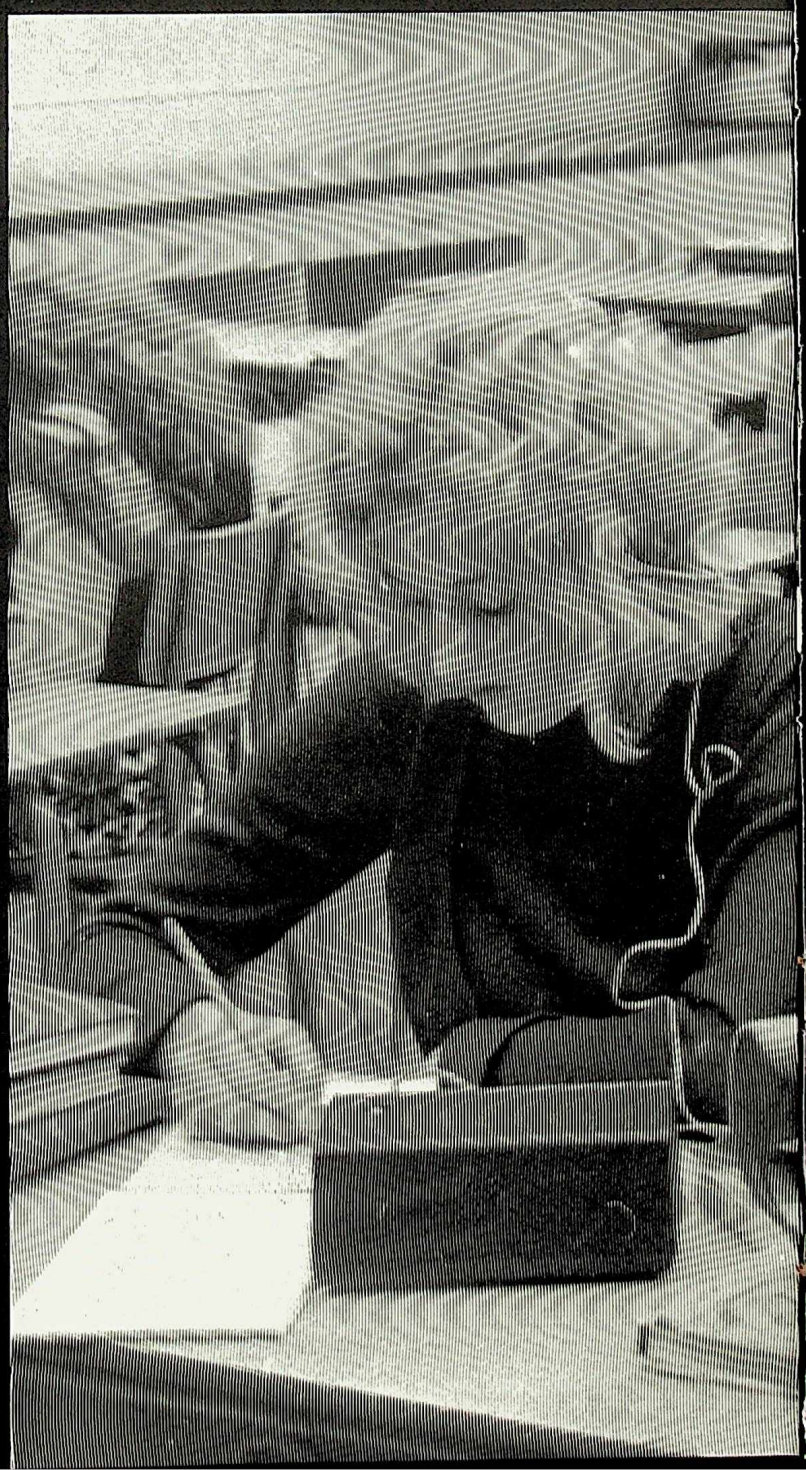


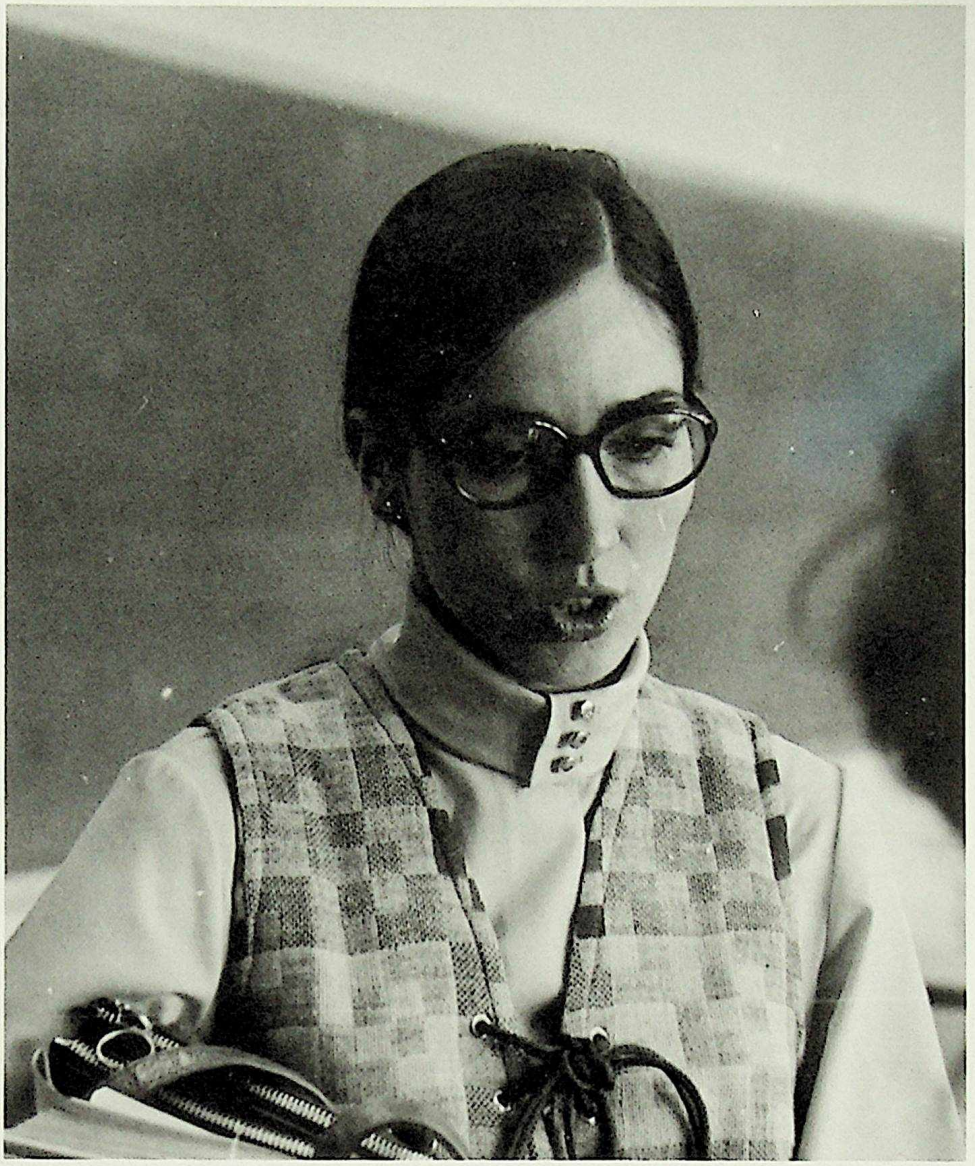
So were the Tigers . . . they walloped St. Mary's Angels to start off a great season.

ACADEMICS

The heart of any academic institution lies in the disciplines — the sciences, the humanities, the arts . . .

The amount of time spent in research study and exploration, in the exposure to knowledge and ideas, and in the application of the mind to the search for truth and meaning is one measure of a school's success. Excellence in the academic realm remains the prime purpose for McNally's existence.





There's a time for fun and a time for excruciating concentration . . . and no yearbook would be worth the effort if it didn't celebrate the agony as well as the pleasure of school life. On any given day, a sizable fraction of the school's population can usually be found somewhere near the books, test tubes, microscope, stage, trampoline, sewing machines, camera, paint brushes, business machines . . .

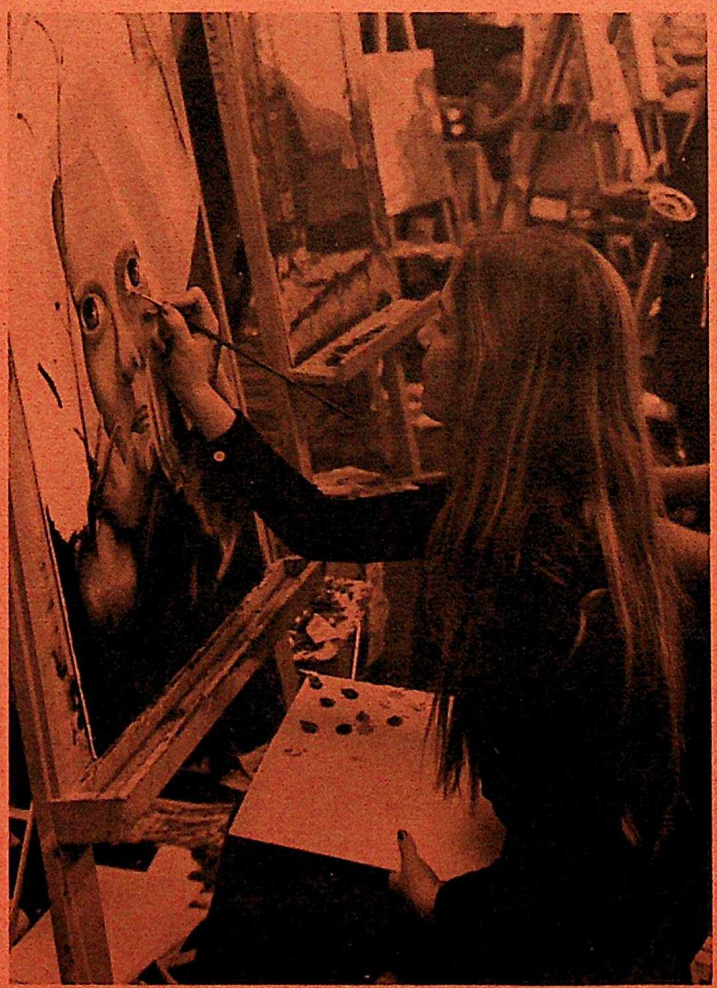
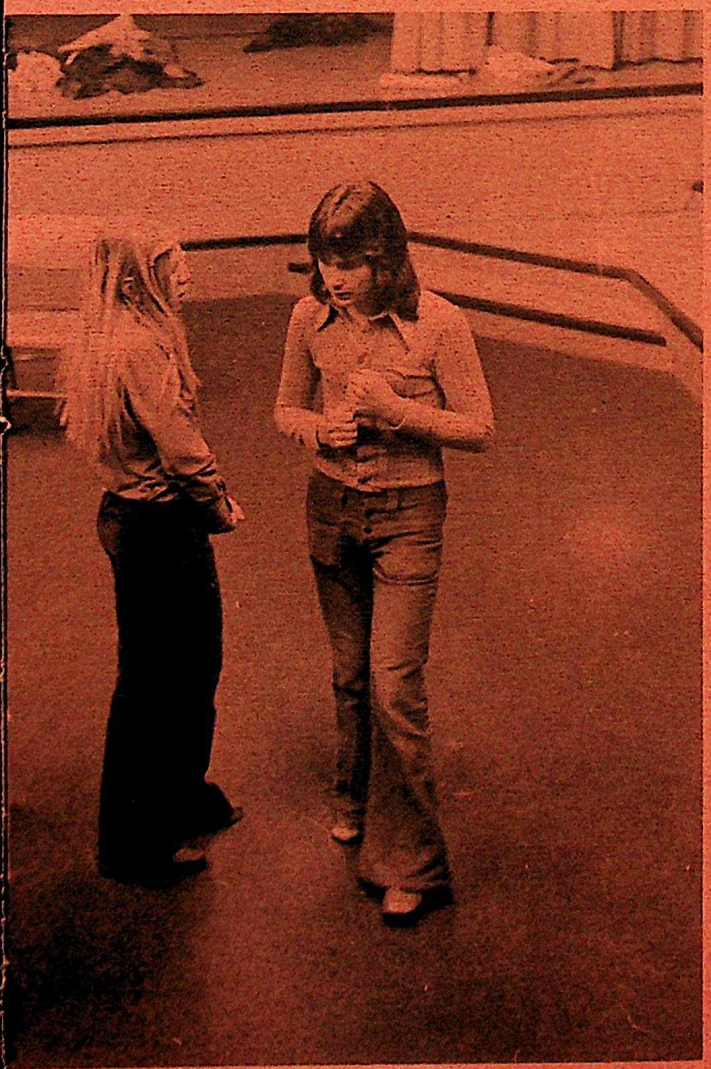
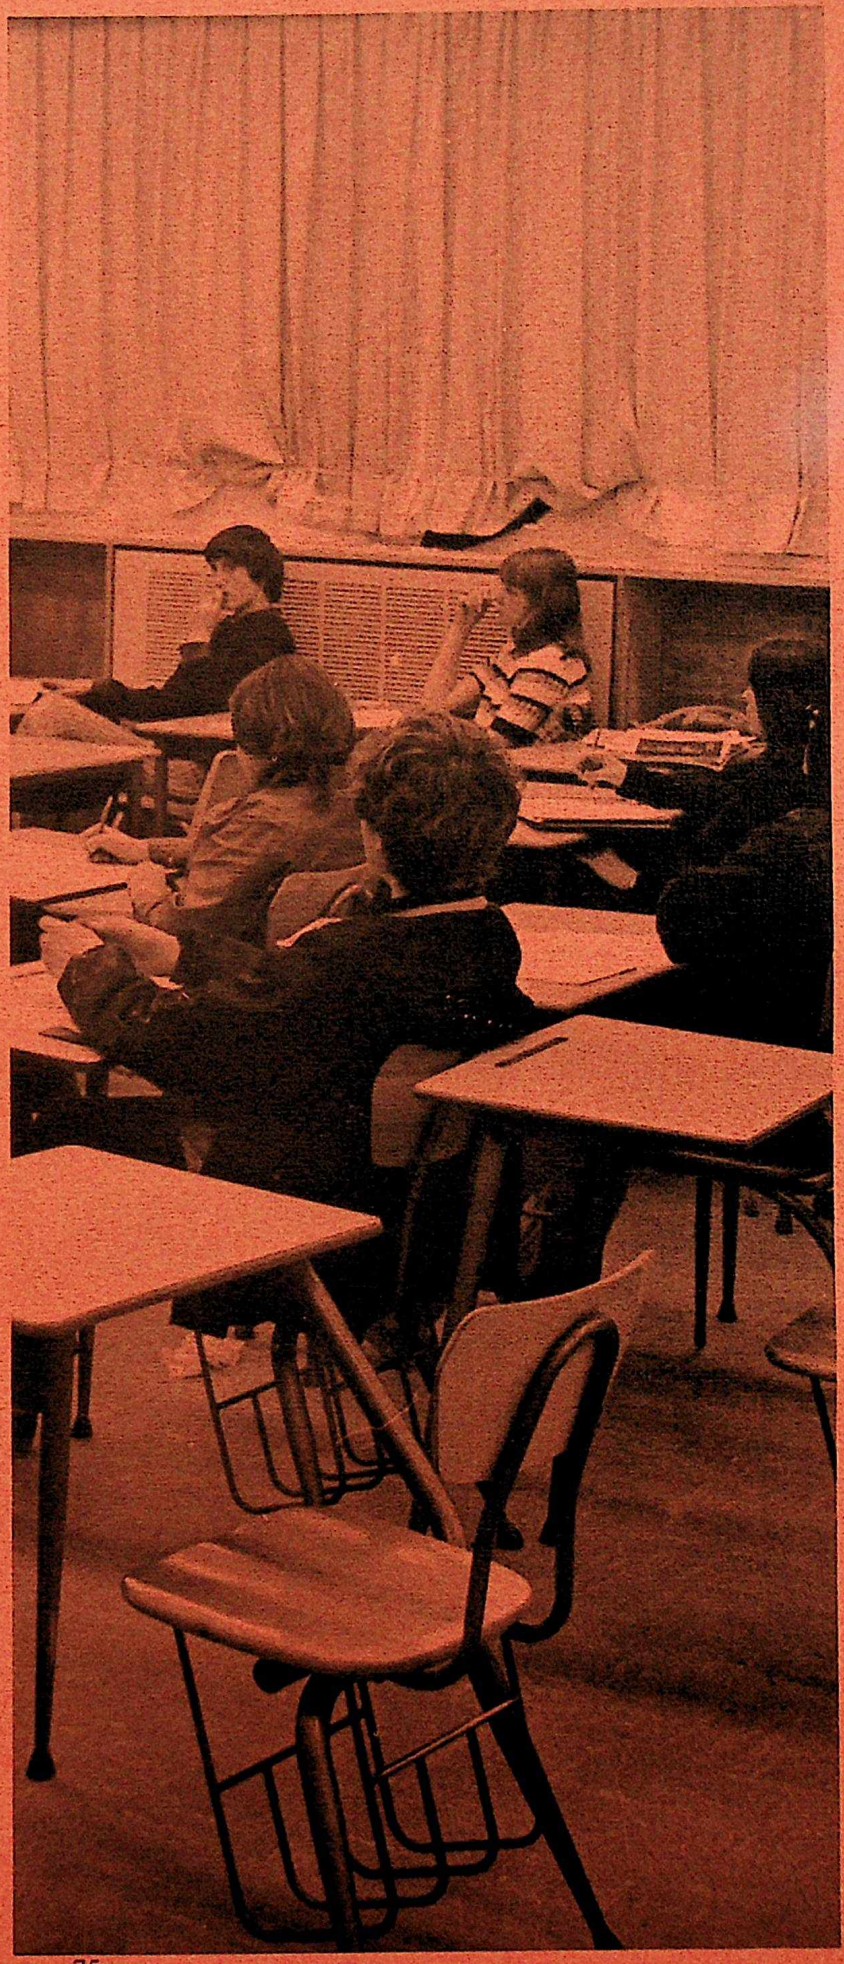
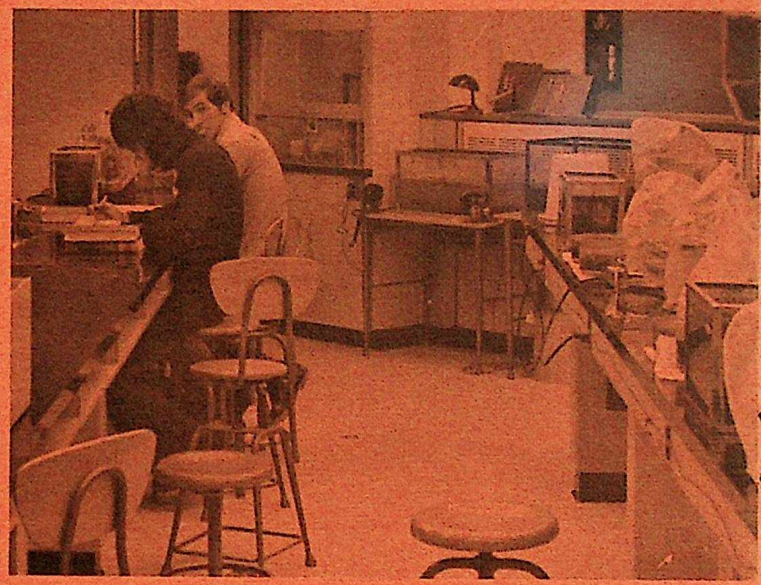
One of the more significant extensions of the school's program was the participation in the annual painting contest at Westmount Shopper's Mall. Brian Christianson, Doug Repchuk, Debbie Drew, and Darci Schuler worked the entire Easter week on paintings which were judged and auctioned off on the Saturday, the prodeeds going to the Winnifred Stewart School for Retarded children.

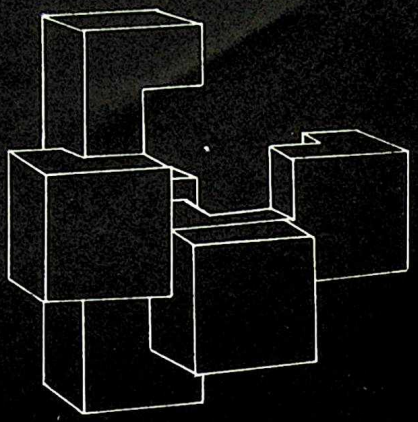


Whether it's in the classroom or the theatre, the laboratory or the out of doors . . . learning is a full-time involvement.









ATHLETICS

Who could forget the excitement of a Friday night game . . . the Tigers leading on the scoreboard . . . scanning the sea of faces in a strange gym for one familiar . . . knowing you belong there because your team is playing . . . shoving together so that one more person can fit into the bleachers . . . thrills, tension, heart-stoppers as the score is tied in the last minute . . . winning!

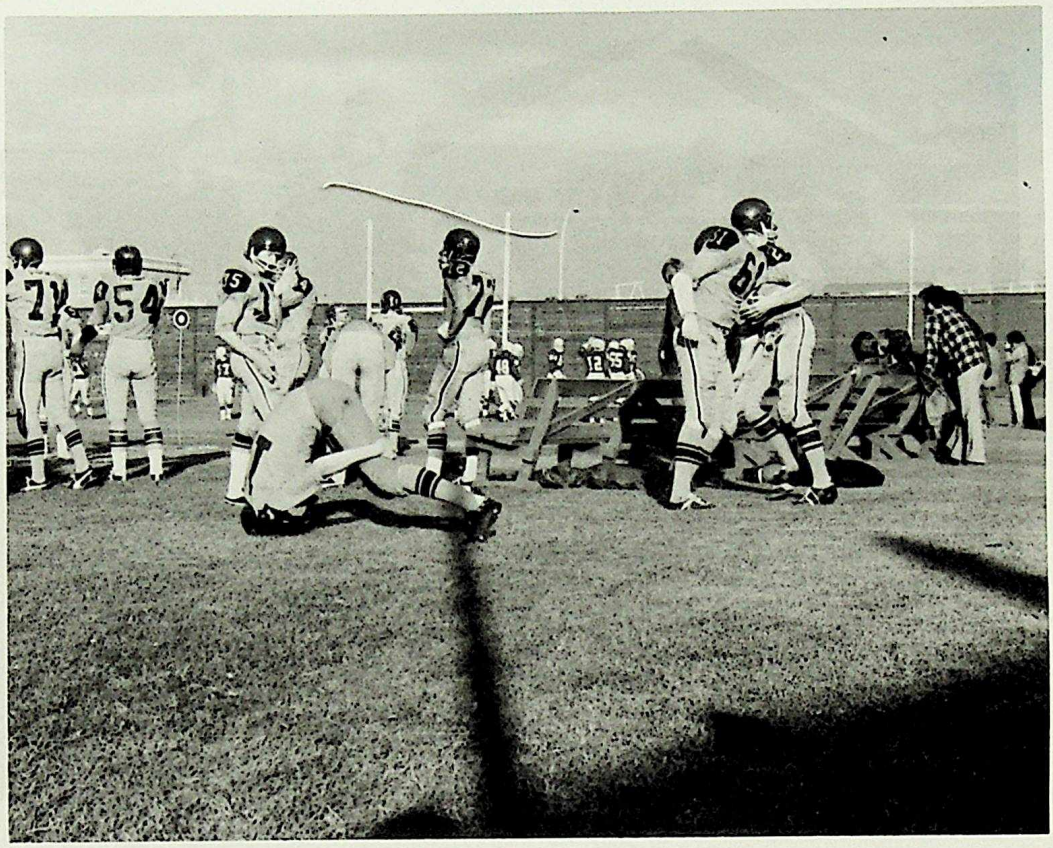
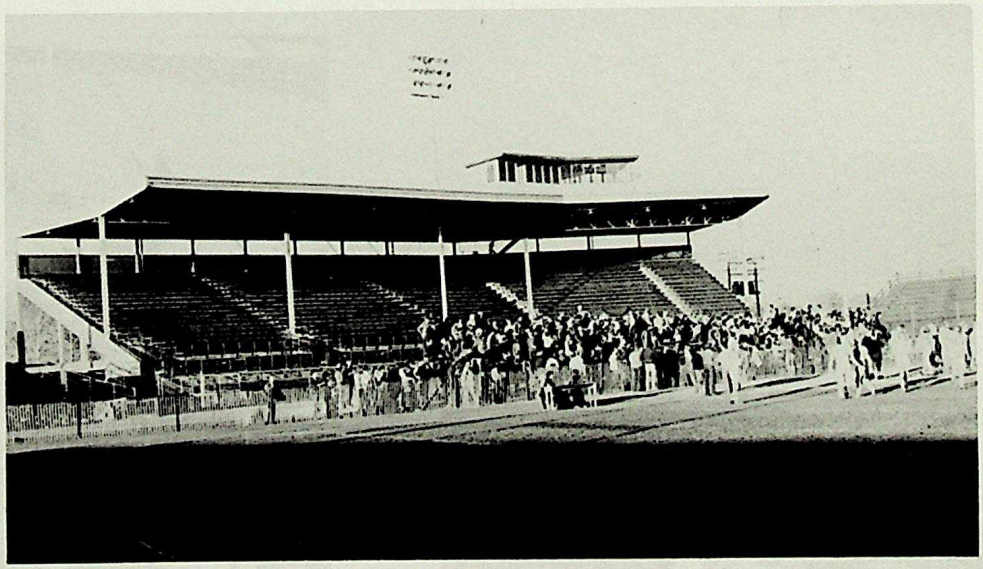
FOOTBALL





SENIOR FOOTBALL

Once again, the senior team ended with a winning season, finishing with four wins and two losses. Football is increasing in popularity at McNally and we as team members appreciate the support given by the entire school. With some of the seniors returning and the city champions coming up, the future looks very promising for senior football.

SENIOR GIRLS' BASKETBALL

What can you say about a team that only won the last game of the season? That they had fun, displayed good sportsmanship, worked hard, and beat a boys' team twice! Not to mention a spastic coach and ten goofy players who loved basketball but hated running.

JUNIOR GIRLS' BASKETBALL

The 1971-72 season was very successful for the Junior Girls' Basketball team. With a 4-2 win-loss record, the girls entered the play-offs and advanced to the semi-finals to be narrowly defeated by the city champion team from Lazerte. The junior girls also represented Edmonton in a provincial exhibition held in Red Deer. More important than a successful season was the fellowship, team spirit, and fun times shared by the entire team (especially working for green jelly beans).

SENIOR VOLLEYBALL

Our team had its most successful season in the three years it has played in the league. They won two of the three tournaments entered, the Salisbury Invitational Volleyball Tournament, and the University of Alberta High School Invitational Volleyball Tournament. Unfortunately they lost out in the biggest tournament, the High School Boys City Championship.

JUNIOR VOLLEYBALL

Under the able coaching of Mr. D. Johnston, our junior volleyball team captured the city championship.

Mr. W. Moysa, Principal

The school year started off with "a bang" and right from the start a good many fine people — students and teachers alike — committed themselves to doing positive things to make McNally a better school. And we never looked back!

McNallyites have been actively involved in as wide a range of co-curricular, intramural, extra-mural activities as possible. The contents of the Yearbook is a testimonial to the breadth and depth of that involvement; and I am sure that all of us who took part in so productive a year will treasure the memories contained herein.

I pay tribute to the dedication of the Yearbook staff and their advisor, Mr. Johnson, for the time and energy devoted to producing a quality publication. I have no hesitation in recommending the book to McNallyites, their friends, and their families as a visual demonstration of a high order of good judgment and good taste.

The year, 1972, has been a good one and many of its best moments are documented and well illustrated for the future.

TENS AND ELEVENS

The tens and elevens make up the majority of the student body, and it is a pleasant place to be — Graduation seems so far away . . . no worries about grad escorts, departmental exams to do after leaving school . . . It's a time of self-realization and awakening to the world around. It's a time of accepting new roles and responsibilities, of adapting to academic demands, and developing patterns for living.

Last minute decisions, getting stuck with all the jobs nobody else wanted, arranging pages, selecting pictures, and meeting many wild and wonderful people — these were all the joys of being editor of the 72 Trend. It was both frustrating and fun, but I hope that it provides many hours of enjoyable browsing.
